

Glick takes tribute

Service to the arts lauded at reception

By LORAIN McCLISH

John Glick, a Farmington potter who just recently received a Michigan Arts Award, is now honored locally with the Artist in Residence tribute, just announced by the Farmington Area Arts Commission in cooperation with the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Glick is owner and operator of Plum Tree Pottery on Farmington's Ten Mile Road, which opened in 1964. He will receive the award from Marilyn Turner Kelly and John Kelly at a reception set for 4 p.m. May 15 in Botsford Inn's Coach House.

Also honored at the reception will be Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Sharette and their three children who perform under the name of "Share" and Alice Nichols, a member and founder of the Farmington Arts Foundation.

The Sharette family will get a mayor's award from Farmington Hills and Mrs. Nichols will take her award from Farmington, both for service in the arts.

THE ARTIST IN Residence tribute is given to a working artist in the community to acquaint the community with the recipient's achievements.

Glick's work will be displayed throughout the area, and Glick's work will be packaged into a traveling show—something new for the year. Invitations to the reception have been sent to foundations, supporters and patrons of the arts, to be brought together to promote the artist's career, though the reception is open to all members of the community, at no charge.

Glick's work ranges from many one-of-a-kind forms, through a limited production series of utilitarian objects. Dinner ware, for example, can be had on a one-of-a-kind commission basis. But in spite of a heavy work schedule, the potter sets aside time for tours for children, teachers and craft groups; he leads workshops and travels as guest instructor or lecturer.

Recently, he was the recipient of a National Endowment for the Arts grant for support in writing a book on studio pottery.

His work can be found in a number of museum, university, art association and private collections.

In announcing the award recipients, Nancy Bates, speaking for the arts commission, said, "The high calibre of his (Glick's) work could not be denied, and neither could services to the arts be denied that has been given by the Sharettes and Mrs. Nichols."

THE FIVE MEMBER Sharette family combine guitar, bass, drums, trumpet, trombone, tambourine and triangle to blend voices and instruments into a pleasing combination of sounds.

Between tours and concerts, both here and abroad, the parents and their three teen-aged children, Denise, Dave and Rick, have given unstintingly of their time and talents to local benefits.

Mrs. Nichols is an active supporter of the arts in the community, through her work in the Farmington Artist Club, the Farmington Arts Foundation

JOHN GLICK

BEVERLY SHARETTE

RONALD SHARETTE

ALICE NICHOLS

and Palette and Brush Club in Detroit. She helped develop the Picture Lady art appreciation program in the local schools, and most recently, has devoted a great deal of time to painting classes for senior citizens in The Gathering Place.

She is a founding member of The Garret. Farmington's first co-operative art gallery.

She is also instrumental in bringing a mini art show of the works of the seniors to the Botsford Inn, on display during the artist's reception next weekend.

Farmington Observer
Suburban Life

Monday, May 9, 1977

(F) 18

Search is on for new Miss Michigan World

By LORAIN McCLISH

Kimberlee, Marre Foley, Miss World-USA, gets ready to relinquish her crown as plans for the 1977-78 Miss Michigan World Pageant go into full swing.

The pageant is open to all women between the ages of 17 and 23 who live in Michigan and want a chance at the title. The winner will be named on the night of the pageant, June 27, in the Raleigh House.

"Age and Michigan residency are the only requirements. There is no talent contest in the pageant," said Cindy Guenther, who is executive director for the 23-year-old event.

Speaking from her Farmington-based office, Ms. Guenther said, "Our motives are completely different than the Miss America contest. That is all oriented to scholarships and education. Ours is given for girls heading for modeling, television, or show business careers and maybe don't know how to go about it. We open doors for them."

ONE OF THE prizes is that the winner automatically is hired, at auto shows in Detroit, New York and Chicago.

"And even those who don't win, will be seen by a couple of spotters from talent agencies we know will be in the audience that night," Ms. Guenther said.

Miss Foley, the only Michigan woman to ever win the Miss USA World competition, is now doing auto shows and promotional work across the country.

Ms. Guenther, a former title holder, is lottery hostess for television's "Michigan" and now owns the Miss Michigan World franchise.

Another former winner, Marji Wallace, recently seen on the cover of People magazine, has appeared in movies as well as several television series.

Linda Carter, of television's "Wonder Woman," is a former winner.

"The winner," Ms. Guenther said, "will have lots of occasions to meet celebrities; in fact she'll be working with show people all week long at the national contest."

MS. GUENTHER has pushed the state contest up to June, to give the winner an adequate amount of time to prepare for the national competition, scheduled for the last of August in California.

"I'll be working very closely with her all that time to get her ready to compete with those other girls because I want her to be a big winner for us," she said.

Prizes for the contest are all-expense-paid trips for two to Las Vegas for both the winner and the first runner-up; modeling portfolios, and the use of a 1977 Cougar; plus all expenses paid for the week long national competition.

"On top of that, there will be many smaller prizes; theatre tickets, cosmetics, total nail care, things like that," she said, "everyone will get a souvenir booklet and some memento."

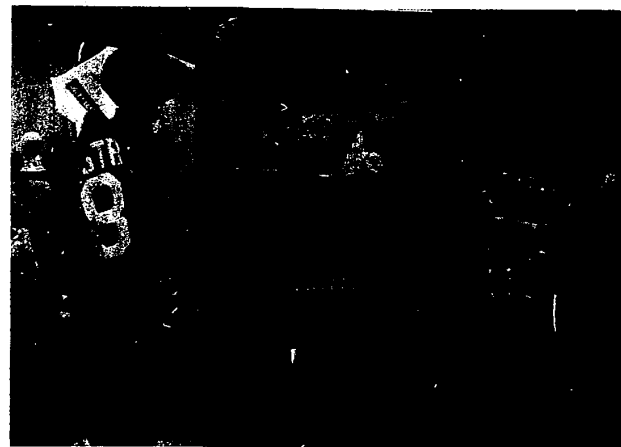

DEADLINE FOR a application to be returned to Ms. Guenther, with entry fee and photo, is June 13. Applications can be had by calling her at 478-7272.

The entrants will appear before a panel of seven judges in daytime fashion and again in swimsuit. Fifteen finalists will appear in evening gown and be asked to answer one question. Selection of the winners will be made on the basis of beauty of face and figure, charm, poise, personality and intelligence.

Tom Ryan, a program producer for WXYZ, will be master of ceremonies for the pageant, and music will be furnished by the Tom Good Band.

Cocktails are optional at 7 p.m. and the pageant begins at 8:30 p.m.

The pageant is open to the public. Tickets can be obtained by calling Ms. Guenther.

Up for auction

Ann Benderoff (at left) and Inev Silverstein show some of the items that will go up for bid during "Celebrity Travel Auction" in Adat Shalom Synagogue following a spaghetti luncheon at noon on May 15. While sports items from celebrities and weekend travel packages go up for sale, entertainment will come from Crazy George Schauer who does crazy things with basketballs. (Staff photo by Harry Mauthe)

Kimberlee Marre Foley, who represented the United States in international competition in London, England, gives up her Miss Michigan World title June 27.

GOLDIE WASSERMAN

Goldie Wasserman honored by women

In response to the government of Israel's call for investment funds to help support the country's economic development program, the Greater Detroit Council of Pioneer Women raised more than $70,000 in State of Israel Bond subscriptions at a luncheon honoring Goldie Wasserman of Farmington.

Mrs. Wasserman received Israel's "Jerusalem, City of Peace" award from Franka Charlupski, chairwoman of the State of Israel Bond Women's Division of Metropolitan Detroit.

The honoree was cited as giving life-long dedication to Pioneer Women and the Israel bond program.

J. Zachary hors d'oeuvre seasonings... your answer to creating unique, delicious cocktail dips, salads, canapes and other delicious menu ideas. Shown: French Onion, Caesar Salad, and Potato Salad seasonings; three-ounces in reusable cork topped crocks. Each $3; The selections also include gourmet seasonings, salad dressings, cocktail mixes and special popcorns. $3 to $10

Miss Jacquelyn Hermann, J. Zachary representative, will be in our Pantry and Sweets Shop to demonstrate how easy it is to prepare outstanding party fare with special J. Zachary seasonings and culinary ingenuity. Tuesday, May 10 - 10:30 A.M. to 5:00 P.M.

Jacobson's
BIRMINGHAM

FREE PARKING JUST A STEP AWAY • WE WILL VALIDATE YOUR TICKET