For instance, people in the rural northem counties of Michigan tended to identify more community problems than did residents of southern Michigan. Residents of the more isolated area in northern Michigan not only identified the problems common to the state as a whole, but they also identified such problems as railroad

A MAJORITY of respondents favored more funding in 10 public spending categories: crime prevention and control; research on new energy sources; assistance programs and facilities for the aged; development of new employment opportunities; re-search on reducing present energy use; exploration for new sources of oil, coal and gas; retirement benefits; preservation of productive farmland; homeowner tax deductions for mort-age interest and property taxes; and help in finding jobs.

As in the section on community problems, residents' views on public spending also varied from one county to another.

The MSU researchers found that there were no categories of public

Housewarming gift

Dear Guincena.

A friend of mine just moved into a new home. I would like to give him a busewarming gift. Since he is very wealthy, he already has, or can get, everything he really needs, and anything I could alford probably would not go with his decor. I thought of giving him a plant, but he is out of town a lot, and could not care for one. He loves the occult and reads a lot about magic. I thought of a robably give him one he already has read.

Tightly cover or cork this bottle, and seal it shut by dipping the closed mouth into melted paraffin wax. Now, place this container gently inside the middle-sized jar, and fill that jar with water from a running stream or river. Seal it in a like manner. The third jar should be considerably larger than the middle one. In the bottom of this third jar, arrange nine stones or pebbles, and cover them with clean sand.

Now place the sealed water jar upright in the sand. Pour in more sand to fill the largest jar Arrange is care-
