Dolls helpful in casting love spells

It would be difficult to find someone who had never heard of voodoo dolls. Such dolls are also used by witches from the British sless and Western Europe, just as they are used by natives of Africa or Hattl.

However, in my particular kind of witcheraft, we refer to them either as "poppets" or "moppets." These are folls made in the image of the person upon whom you are casting a spell. For some reason or other, people seem to associate these dolls with evil spells that bring pain, or even death to the one they represent.

Such is not always the case, however, for these dolls may be used in the lading, or in spells to keep someone fractions are such used in spells to keep someone fractions.

from leaving home, or make them gaway. ...
They are also used in spells to sky someone from drinking, or to make someone work harder.
I would venture to say, though, that the most common use of these dolls is in a love spin.
These image dolls may be made out of clay, wax, straw, cloth, or any other material. Using cloth from a garment worn by the person the doll represents makes it better, because it strengthens the identification of that

IF YOU cannot obtain such cloth, or if you are making the doll from some other medium, then it helps to add nail clippings, a strand of hair, etc., from the subject of the spell. This is not absolutely necessary, however. The doll must be clearly identified as male or female. This may be done in the molding of the doll, or by marking it with the male or female symbol.

It is also important that the name of the subject it represents be written on the doll.

Always be aware that the doll itself has no real power. All the power lies within you, and the doll simply acts as a focus for that power. It helps you to concentrate, and imagine more clearly exactly what it is you want to clearly exactly what it is you want to happen.

As in all spell-casting, imagination is one of the three things necessary to make it work. The other two are, of course, emotion and belief. You must know (not hope or wish) know (not nope or wissi, una, you was succeed. Some witches say that all magic re-turns upon you threefold. So, be care-ticated to the supplementation of the three are directions for a simple love spell using image dolls: Make two dolls, one to represent your love object, and one to represent yourself. Place the female doll on the right side of the working area, and the male doll on the left, nine inches apart.

Repeat nine times: "These two are, being drawn together with warmth and affection."

LEAVE THE dolls undisturbed for 24 hours, then move them one inch closer together. As you do so, picture in your mind the one you love being drawn closer to you. Repeat this step each day for nine days until the dolls each day for nine days until the dolls touch.

When the dolls are finally touching, take a piece of red wool thread or red cotton thread (all natural fabric, not synthetic) 21 inches long, and wrap it around the dolls three times, binding them together face to face.

Now, bury these dolls in the ground as close as possible to the front door of the one you desire. As you do so, repeat three times: "As with these images, so be it with those they represent."

In this love spell, as in all others, the magic brings out the love that lies hidden, and awakens fires that are already smoldering.

"...the chances of our developing a high temperature battery that will end up in an electric car are rather good..."

Dr. Elton Cairns, Assistant Head, Electrochemistry Department

'I'm excited and optimistic. I think the chances of our developing a high temperature battery that will end up in an electric car are rather good. We're interested in electric cars because we recognize the need for a shift in our primary source of transportation energy...from oil to coal or nuclear energy.

"The potential range of electric cars depends on how and where you drive the vehicle. If you allocate 25% of the vehicle weight to a zinc nickel oxide battery and you drive the car in urban traffic conditions, then you get a range of about 100 miles. If you replace that with an equal weight of a lithium iron sulfide high temperature battery, should provide both adequate range and performance for a full-

"And there are some possibilities that might let us double the range. Then you might have a vehicle range of 400 miles.

"At the moment, the high temperature cells we have here at GM have a lifetime record of over 10,000 hours of continuous operation and over 700 complete discharge-recharge cycles. No one anywhere else has done that well.

There are a number of benefits. One is a pollution-free car. I think it's better to have one large pollution control system at an electric power plant than it is to have a million pollution control systems on cars.

"There are some problems. too. We must select materials for the container of the cell which will remain inert over long periods of
