

Skateboard fancy sweeps area

Adam Kahn, 8, sailed into first place in 13.7 seconds. He was followed by Frank Moran with a time of 13:9 but like Fiegan, who ran the course in 15.1 was given second place. Moran was penalized for making a wrong turn around the cones in the course. "I went around right, instead of left," sighed Moran, 9. "But I'll try again next year."

To keep in shape, Moran and first place winner Kahn practice on the bike paths near their homes in Wedgwood Commons Subdivision.

Practice has been scarce for Kahn in the last few weeks, but he has been skateboarding for the past year. He favors a wooden board.

Luck was with Fiegan, 9, who came in second on his brother's skateboard. He prefers doing tricks with his board to straight slalom.

Junior skateboarders, between 10-12 years-old were led by Richard Gouline, 12, who has been active in the sport for a year and a half.

"I HAVE BIGGER wheels on my skate board so they turn better," Gouline explained.

He was followed by Joel Breazale, with an 11:6 second showing and Paul Robertson who captured third place with a 12.5 time. Joel Breazale, came in fourth with a 13:1. Drew Chuba was fifth with 13:4. Greg Krench captured sixth with 14:2 and Jeff DeBussio came in seventh with 15 seconds. He was followed by eight place winner David DeBussio, who made the course in 16 seconds.

Youngsters were protected by knee pads, elbow pads and helmets. Points were deducted for touching the ground with a foot and knocking over a cone.

Miss Farmington 1978, Dorlisa Ann LaMarra handed out the prizes and kisses to each of the winners. Adam Kahn was the first winner to be awarded both.

"Give me a kiss," he demanded of Miss LaMarra.

And she complied.

Sewer rates confusing

County engineer in the sewer, water and solid waste disposal department.

But rates are also affected by debt service charges implemented to build sewer systems. The northwest section of Farmington Hills, for example, has higher debt service costs for a variety of reasons, says Gerard Miller, finance director. But Hills residents are charged the same rate for water in the four water districts and one rate city wide for the sewer services.

"I would see a problem in terms of different rates," he says, but making the four water districts in the Hills uniform, in terms of accounting purposes, would be difficult because of previous financing methods.

THE AVERAGE bill for Farmington Hills residents with both water and sewer services is about $28, also, according to James Porter, Oakland
