Temple names new officers

Marvin Novick of Oak Park was elected president of Temple Beth El at the 127th annual dinner meeting recently.

Other officers elected were: Walter Shagren, first vice-president; Mrs. Arthur R. Bloom, vice-president; Marvin H. Goldman, vice-president; Paul J. Dizik, treasurer; and Milton H. Dresner, secretary.

In his annual report, outgoing President David K. Page emphasized the large enrollment of new members during the past year and discussed the program of activities conducted by the temple and its auxiliaries, as well as the successful campaign for the reduction of the mortgage.

Novick stressed that his administration will aim to expand the program and services of the temple.

Marvin H. Goldman, chairman of the mortgage reduction campaign, was honored for his efforts with the presentation of an illuminated, framed citation and a Scroll of Esther.

Novick is a partner in the firm of J.K. Lasser and Company, certified public accountants. He has been affiliated with the temple since 1960.

In 1968, he was chosen one of the outstanding young men in America.
