dates feel are the most important issues in the campaign.

JHAD ALKATEEB. 28915 Aften Park Drive. Alkateeb has a BS in electrical engineering and has done post-cast. He are supported by the control of the control of "The master plan must be treated with respect, altered only in extreme cases. I am opposed to high-rise in residential areas," he says.

Alkateeb believes there is a lack of communication between the city government and residents. To remedy this, he would like to see the agenda published two weeks in advance. Another imporvement, he feels, would be to transmit information through subdivision organizations.

"Our young city must grow in an organized and systematic mammer. We must plan alweaf for drainage, roads.

must plan ahead for drainage, roads elderly housing, recreation and tax base. Only by farsighted planning can we economically achieve our goals and avoid excess taxes."

ROBERT AMORI: 3397 Charter Crest. Amori has a BA from Michigan State University. He received an officers commission upon graduation from Infantry Officers Schools. Fort Benning, Ga. He is the president of Penquin Oil Co. and vice president of Barnosky Oils. Inc.

group of engineers and draftsmen desizning outside plant projects.
"I feel I can bring an expertise in making objective decisions based on facts, costs and benefits." he said.
"Constant pressure is beling brought to bear to compromise the city master plan. We must insure its current validity and use it to guide our city development." he said.
"The city was founded as a low-profile community. I do not believe the residents want to change that. Highrise structures for whatever purpose should be relegated to areas grescribed in the master plan I am opposed to schemes to secure federment offens considering the longer
