Fashion show benefits center

Fashions to accommodate all shapes, sizes and ages will come from B. Segals for the Farmington Community Center's annual benefit fashion show and lunch, set to begin with cocktails in Glen Oaks Country Club Sept. 27. Models for the show, wearing some of the new fall styles are Kay Blakeney (seated), Catherine Gaul (at left, standing) and Marlene Coffey. The women are part of the center's volunteer crew who stage the benefit every year. Reservation (deadling is Sept. 22) can be made in person in the center, or by calling 477-8494. Tickets are $7.50 each. (Photo by Focal Point of Farmington)

Square dance lessons start

Square dance lessons begin in Flanders Elementary School Oct. 11 with George Thompson, caller and instructor. The lessons continue on Tuesdays, at 7:30 p.m., in the school at 32890 Flanders, sponsored by the Farmington Hills Parks and Recreation Commission. Early registration is suggested by calling the commission office at 474-6115.

Kick the habit

(Continued from Page 3A) who persist in sucking their thumb may be indicative of a split between his parents over the method to use on the habit, according to Nunn.

One parent may want to ignore it and the other may want to take some sort of action. Cooperation between the parents is essential to helping them teach the child not to suck his thumb.

Some youngster suck their thumbs at night. For these cases, Nunn has developed an alarm device which is worn like a wrist watch and buzzes to warn the child to take his thumb out of his mouth. Three days and nights of the habit breaking routine and the thumb stays out of the mouth, according to Nunn. Overeating is another habit where cooperation between mates is essential. "If the husband isn't going to cooperate, the wife doesn't have a chance of losing weight," he said.

Nunn, who received his Ph.D. in educational psychology from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, in 1974, is a behavioral consultant for the Illinois State Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities.

Honors go to Gallagher

Colleen Mary Gallagher, a 1973 graduate of Farmington High School, graduated Summa Cum Laude from Western Michigan University's School of Social Work.

She has been awarded a two year scholarship from Michigan Social Services to complete work on her masters of social work degree. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gallagher, of Farmington.
