

You'll be hearing about 'Agnes'

Up till now, Mary Callaghan Lynch of Birmingham has been known as one of the 18 children from a family that lives on Manor Road and also as the Kentucky Fried Chicken girl. She has done four commercials for the Colonel. But after Oct. 7, she may be better known as Agnes Fairchild, nicknamed Saint Agnes, the character she portrays in the new play with music "Detroit!" opening at Mercy College. The show, which has an all metropolitan-Detroit cast, also stars Mark Lashlee of Birmingham, who wrote the music. Albert Zolton of Farmington Hills, and William Unger of Detroit. Ms. Lynch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Callaghan. She has a 22-year-old twin brother. Recently married, she is the wife of Patrick Lynch, funeral director at Vasu-Lynch.

SHE WAS BITTEN by the acting bug at the age of 12, at Holy Name Parish, where her father is organist and choir director. She appeared in

OU alumni toot horns

Oakland University alumni will combine musical talents for a scholarship benefit concert next month.

The Oct. 9 program of vocal and instrumental works in Varner Recital Hall is sponsored by the OU Music Alumni Association.

The suggested donation for the 2:30 p.m. performance is $2.50 for adults and $1 for students. Contributions are tax deductible. Tickets can be obtained at the door or by calling 781-5229. Following the performance a reception will be held in Room 110 of Varner Hall.

Mary Callaghan Lynch of Birmingham, shown here in one of her professional stills, plays Agnes Fairchild in "Detroit!"

Albert Zolton of Farmington Hills portrays ex-boxer Alfie Most.
