Studying the deep

Gail Kouris of Farmington, a senior at Central Michigan University, is a participant in the pilot aquatic biology study at the Mt. Pleasant school. The study, which checks existing aquatic life forms in selected sites of the Tittabawassee River, is the result of a grant from Consumers Power Co. Data gathered will be provided to the Federal Environmental Protection Agency.

Southfield attorney re-elected by JNF

Mark E. Schlusel of Southfield, prominent attorney and community leader, was elected by a unanimous vote to a third term as president of the Greater Detroit Jewish National Fund Council.

Schlusel follows a family tradition of service to JNF since his late father, Irving, also an attorney, served as JNF president some 25 years ago.

A former Southfield councilman, Schlusel was president of the Association of Hebrew Schools, comprising the Jewish day schools in the metropolitan area and also president of Congregation Shomrei Emenah. He is active in the Jewish Welfare Federation and serves as president of the Federation apartments, built by the Welfare Federation to house senior citizens.

He is a member of the Southfield law firm of Schlusel, Lifton, Simon, Rands, Kaufman and Lesinski.

Also elected were vice presidents Samuel Geller, Ruben Isaacs, Mrs. William Levin, Mrs. Louis Levine.

Carmi Slomovitz and Rissa Winkelman, Samuel J. Wilson was re-elected as treasurer and Larry Guttenberg as financial secretary.

Detroit Area Jewish National Fund is celebrating the 60th anniversary of its founding. During the past year, more than 100,000 trees have been planted in Israel by Detroiters, 15 per cent of them by non-Jews, according to Percy Kaplan, executive director of JNF.

Adams earns

David Paul Adams, 2911 Mayfair, Farmington Hills, earned his Ph.D. degree from Michigan State University recently. In ceremonies in East Lansing, Adams, business department chairman at Oakland Community College, Orchard Ridge, received his doctorate in marketing.

Prince of Peace installs pastor

Prince of Peace Lutheran Church recently installed its new pastor, the Rev. Rupert Saint Pierre.

The Rev. John Angle, executive secretary of the Michigan District of the Missouri Synod, delivered the installation sermon. The rite of installation was performed by the Rev. Roy Pranschke. Pastoral blessings were given by each of the 14 attending clergy, including Dr. Richard Schlecht, president of the Michigan District.

A reception honoring and welcoming the new pastor and his family took place in the Fellowship Hall immediately following the installation.
