Pastor retires from Salem congregation

The congregation of Salem United Church of Christ attended a retirement dinner last week for the Rev. Carl H. Schultz, who had served the church as its pastor for the past 41 years.

The church, one of the oldest in Farmington, now is in its 102nd year. The dinner was preceded by a devotional period, led by the Rev. John Schultz, son of Rev. Carl H. Schultz, a member of Salem, and the Rev. Carl Grathwohl, a longtime friend of the guest of honor.

Violin selections were rendered by Frank Floreck, and Clark Simpson was soloist for the event which was highlighted by David Cornwell, who presented the Rev. Schultz with the title of Pastor Emeritus, from the church board of administration.

Christine Bayer, a member of the pastor's first confirmation class, and Jeff Paxton, who represented the most recent confirmation class, also participated in the evening's program. His gift from the congregation is a trip to the Holy Land. His gift from the Youth Fellowship was a camera to use on his retirement trip.

The simplicity of a slide.
With a few surprises.

The unexpected touch: macramé inset all along the sleeves. Adding texture and special interest to a dress so relaxed, you'll wear it day or night. With more details worth noting: a slit neckline with a tender tie. And a waist that ties and blouses. By Gene Berk in vanilla Dacron® polyester for 6 to 14 sizes, 80.00. Better Dresses, Second Floor
