

State Reps. Jack Kirksey (left) and Robert Law join Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas in preparations for a hearing Jan. 25 on revisions in state juvenile code.

Juvenile hearing in Livonia

A hearing on state juvenile code revisions is set for 8 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 25 in Bentley High School, Five Mile and Hubbard, Livonia.

The session has been called by Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas and State Representatives Jack Kirksey and Robert Law. Joining them will be District Judge James Mies of Livonia; Carol Strom of the Livonia school board; Robert McCann, a school principal and resident of the Livonia City Council and Councilman Jerry Brown.

"We want to give the public an opportunity to comment," said Mrs. Dumas. The house committee debating the bill has reached a compromise on the controversial status offender issue, she said.

A proposed change in the state juvenile code would take such non-criminal acts as running away from school and truancy out of juvenile court.

At past county public hearings, most testified against this provision, Mrs. Dumas said.

School truancy and state efforts to curtail child pornography also will be addressed at the hearing.

Swim classes to start at Y

Swimming classes for adults, youths and preschoolers will begin the week of Jan. 23 at the Northwest YWCA, 25940 Grand River, Redford Township.

Adult classes will be held during the day and evening. Youth classes will meet after school and on Saturdays. The classes are for novice through advanced swimmers.

Water safety instruction, in cooperation with the American Red Cross, will be offered those 17 and older who have a current Red Cross life-saving card. This class will be free to all participants as a community service.

For further information, contact the Y at 537-6509.
