Authority on antiques will teach in center

H. George Bickelmann, a recognized authority in European and American furniture and accessories through the Renaissance through the 19th Century, will lead a three-session workshop in Farmington Community Center called "Antiques: How Can I Tell It's Old?"

The guide to the authenticity of antiques will run from 10-11:30 a.m. on Feb. 1, 8 and 22.

Bickelmann will help participants learn what to look for in repairs, wear, discoloration, tool marks, and replacement parts for proof of age.

A unique part of the workshop is that participants are invited to bring in pieces of their own for Bickelmann to identify and date.

Bickelmann has spent 33 years collecting, appraising and dealing in antiques, and is now the owner and operator of an antique shop at 155 S. Bates in Birmingham. He does not concern himself with flea market type pieces or those which usually fall into the attic-treasures category.

Scholarships available for women at WSU

College is a reality to three Detroit women because of a Women's Scholarship Program, part of Wayne State University's Weekend College. The four-year program offers the bachelor of general studies degree. Women who are interested in exploring scholarship possibilities for future quarters should call Vivian Szykowski, at 577-0845.

The three winners for this quarter were chosen from 18 applicants on the basis of financial need, clearly defined goals, and academic record.

Funds for the scholarships came from the sale of Weekend College T-shirts and a theater benefit at Wayne's Hilbert Theatre.

Girl Scout cookie sale under way

Girl Scouts will be out in the community from Jan. 21-28 taking orders for six flavors of cookies offered in the 1978 sale.

Scouts of all ages are participating in the sale. Brownies aren't permitted to take orders from door to door. But they will be on the phone to neighbors and friends, and they will be a part of the adult-supervised sales in supermarkets and shopping malls.

A new feature this year is the "cookie connection," a telephone line set up for customers who are not contacted directly by the scouts. Orders may be placed by calling 846-8210, in this area, while the supply lasts.

Another something new in the sale is vanilla frosted chocolate cakes, called Snowdrops. They will be sold along with mint patties, shorties, vanilla sandwiches, peanut butter sandwiches and patties.

They sell for $1.25 per box. Home delivery and collection of money is scheduled for March 29.

THE COOKIE sale is a major fundraiser for Girl Scouts. Proceeds provide for more than 40 per cent of the annual budget.

A little more than 80 per cent of the profits go to the Southern Oakland Girl Scout Council to broaden programs and services for more than 11,000 girls. The remaining percentage directly benefits the participating troops.

Sales managers in this area are Kathy Marcellin, of Southfield and Ann Harnden of Farmington.
