Mr. and Mrs.
James Heckel

Linda Lee Butler and James Kent Heckel were wed in Franklin Community Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Les Butler, of 30755 Woodstream, Farmington Hills, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Heckel of Grand Haven.

The bride wore a white full length gown with fingertip veil and matching long train while she carried a single red rose.

Jane Butler served as her maid of honor and Karen Scruggs as her matron of honor, with bridal attendants Jackie Hazen, Mary Kay Meyer, and Debbie Wallace in gowns of peach and copper.

Phil Heckel served as best man with groomsmen Dave Heckel, Jeff Heckel, Kirk Brutels and Jim Van Sedum.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Central Michigan University and both are employed as teachers in Indiana.

The couple received 115 guests in Bonnie Brook Country Club after the ceremony, and are now residing in Avilla, Ind.

Harasins wed 60 years

Mr. and Mrs. John Harasin, of Farmington Hills, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary with a family dinner hosted by their children this month.

The couple were wed on Jan. 29, 1918, in Walkers Mill, Pa.

In 1920 they moved to Detroit where they raised their three children, Leonard of Detroit, Henry of Dearborn Heights, and Bertha Harasin Paweski, of Farmington Hills. They have six grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

The Harasins have made their home in Farmington Hills for the past 11 years and are members of Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic Church.

After retirement from Ford Motor Company, where Harason was employed 35 years, he spends a great deal of his time gardening, while she crochets for relaxation.

MR. and MRS. JOHN HARASIN

Weinert-Galligan

Jon Dana Weinert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Weinert of Baintree Road, Farmington Hills, formerly of Redford Township, took Christine Marie Galligan as his bride in a double-ring ceremony in All Faith chapel, Traverse City.

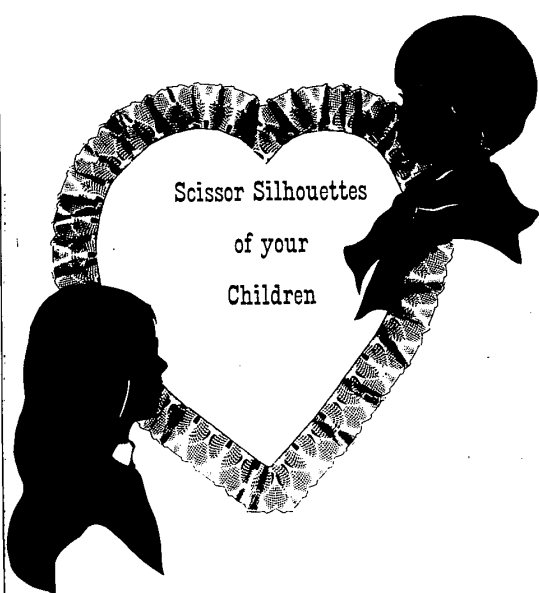

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Galligan of Williamsburg. Her husband, a graduate of North Farmington High School, attended the Orchard Ridge campus of Oakland Community College. His bride is a graduate of Elk Rapids High School.

During the wedding, the bride wore a tulle gown with a chiffon overlay and a chapel-length train trimmed in venetian lace and seed pearls. She carried a traditional bouquet.

Laurie Sanford as the matron of honor and Sheila Marker as the bridesmaid, wore pale green polyester gowns accented by dark green velvet jackets.

Dan Raetz was the best man and Dennis Wainoe was the groomsmen. Paul and Tim Galligan acted as ushers.

Following a holiday in northern Michigan, the couple settled in the Traverse City area.
