Art entries on display

Winning entries in the regional Scholastic Art Awards competition for Oakland and Wayne counties will be on display at Tel-Twelve Mall in Southfield Feb. 9-19.

The competition is conducted nationally by Scholastic Magazines to encourage student achievement in creative arts. Varied classifications include painting, drawing, printmaking, design, three-dimensional art and photography. At the close of the exhibit, finalists selected from key-winning pieces will be on display at the Detroit Institute of Arts Feb. 24 through March 5. The exhibits will then go on to Scholastic Magazines Inc. to compete with finalists from other regions for national awards. National judges will choose winners of scholarships, gold-medal awards and cash awards, with prize winning selections displayed at the 51st Annual National Exhibit.

The display of junior and senior high school student art will be displayed through Sunday, Feb. 19 during all mall hours. The mall, at Twelve Mile and Telegraph Roads, is open daily 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Admission is free.

Parenting set as topic

Dr. Rabbi Gerald Teller will deal with questions about all aspects of Judaism for the young child when he meets with parents from 1-3 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 22, at Congregation Shalom in Southfield.

The official topic for the meeting is "Answering Children's Questions about God and Death."

The meeting is sponsored by the Beth Haysel (nursery school and kindergarten) but is open to the public. Refreshments will be served. Babysitting will be available if arranged in advance with the nursery school office at 357-5544. For further information, call the same telephone number.

Beer can collector is library speaker

Beer can collectors will take the spotlight away from the books in the Farmington Community Library on Wednesday when Don Bessler discusses the hobby.

Bessler, a beer can collector, will speak on the hobby and answer questions.

A trading session will be conducted.

The program is open to all collectors. It will be at the Farmington Branch Library, 23500 Liberty Street, from 7:30-9 p.m.
