

Riccardo feted as Knight of Charity

JOHN J. RICCARDO

John J. Riccardo will join the ranks of metropolitan Detroiters who have been feted as Knights of Charity. Riccardo, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Chrysler Corporation, was honored for his efforts on behalf of the community, its citizens and various charity groups.

This year's Knights of Charity award dinner-dance takes place in Fairlane Manor March 3.

Local women working towards the evening's success, all members of the Women's Alliance for the Knights of Charity, are Mrs. Walter Boese of Farmington, and Mrs. John F. Colant, Mrs. James McNamara and Mrs. Daniel Simon, all of Farmington Hills.

The award has been presented to community leaders since 1964, except for a brief four-year hiatus when the awarding society, the Pontifical Institute for Missions Extension (PIME Missionaries) was being restructured.

This involved organizational as well as educational programming changes. Now that the changes have been made, the society is again sponsoring the annual event.

PRESENTING THE award will be dinner chairman Frank D. Stella. He will give Riccardo a medallion of citation and a plaque. Each will be engraved with: "Unison in family life with person-to-person charity."

Vice-chairman of the affair is Thomas V. Angotti.

Proceeds from the benefit are earmarked to help train young men as missionaries in nations around the world.

The missionaries establish schools, hospitals, clinics, leprosaria, orphanages, homes for the aged, farmers cooperatives and credit unions.

The purpose is to raise the standard of living for the natives of under-developed and developing countries.

The first Knight of Charity was Pat O'Brien, who won the honor in 1964. All recipients are selected by members of the board of trustees of Maryglade College. The college is under the direction of the PIME Fathers.

The graduates of the college, in addition to their religious responsibilities, perform work in four major areas: medicine, education, social work and communications. Maryglade is the major seminary-college for the society, established in Detroit in 1948.

Worldwide mission activities conducted by the PIME Fathers include 720 schools, 25 hospitals, 141 outpatient clinics, and five leprosaria.

Monday, February 27, 1978

Farmington Observer Suburban Life

(F)1B

Art and antiques combine for show

By SHIRLEE IDEN

Whether your interest is in the elegant antiques of another time or the latest in art trends, you'll find it at Temple Israel Sisterhood's 28th annual "Art and Antiques Unlimited."

The endeavor will showcase the work of a large number of area artists. It's set for Sunday, March 5 from noon to 9 p.m. and for Monday through Wednesday, March 6-8 from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the Jewish Community Center, Maple and Drake in West Bloomfield.

Luminaries of the local art scene such as John Glick, Susan Bolt, Roslyn Tyge, Gene Pluhar, Sophie Fordon, Tom Hale and Adrian Forster will show examples of their works in many media.

Some of the leading antique dealers in the area will also show their wares. Among them are Forty-two Latitude, Barbara Dadrowski, Gloria Gold-deck, Mickey Leib, Dorothy Thompson, Panache Limited, the Iron Dog, the Pink Wheel and the Sign of the Window Chair.

Other booths will sell gifts, plants and flowers, white elephants, party and paper goods, and candy and cook books.

SISTERHOOD president is Linda Brodsky of West Bloomfield and chairperson of the show is Betsy Rudin of Southfield.

Assisting Mrs. Rudin will be Sheila

Lipschutz, Alvira Perlman, Faith Freeman, Arnette Schreiber, Barbara Rosenthal, Grata Madison, Rhoda Ritten, Zaida Sune, Sylvia Savin and Judith Weinstein, all of Southfield.

Others on the committee are Judy La Bret of Franklin; Charlene Blundy and Helen Lappin of Huntington Woods; Phyllis Small, Adrienne Millin, Marion Cohen, all of West Bloomfield; Ruth Moss of Birmingham; Evelyn Asher and Millie of Oak Park; and Barbara Saltz of Farmington Hills. Proceeds of the show help the sisterhood continue their support of a number of community programs including service to the Lahser Home for the Aged, service at the clinic for emotionally disturbed adolescents at the University of Michigan Hospital, a program for the blind and youth programs at the temple.

The art and antique show is the group's only fundraising effort and enlists the help of a large portion of sisterhood members.

This year's show will have a lecture by Dale Ross, authority on antiques and instructor at Oakland University, on "The Romance of Antiques." He will speak at 11 a.m. on Monday.

At 11 a.m. on Tuesday, a fashion show by Just Marilyn of Southfield will be held.

Tickets are $2 each and can be purchased at the door. For ticket information, call Ruth Moss at 645-5848 or Adrienne Millin at 626-3944.

Farmington potter John Glick will join many distinguished area artists and leading antique dealers for the four-day show, "Art and Antiques Unlimited." (Staff photo by Harry Mauthe)

Arab propaganda is lecture topic

Eliezer Rafesli, founder and director-general of University of Haifa, will speak on "Combating Arab Propaganda" in the Labor Zionist Institute at 8 p.m. March 5.

The program is co-sponsored by Detroit Zionist Federation and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. It is open to the community without charge.

Rafesli brought his idea of a university into reality for 7,000 students, hundreds and scholars, lecturers and a network of affiliated colleges in the Galilee.

He has helped develop programs to bridge social and cultural gaps, and he established pre-academic programs for culturally deprived students, for soldiers and new immigrants.

He also established the Arab-Jewish Center in the university.

Art in the library

Carole Garczynski brings a colorful exhibit of modern paintings which will remain on display throughout the month at Farmington Community Library. The artist is a member of the Farmington Artists Club, president of the Palette & Brush Club and teaches classes in Mercy Center's Gathering Place.

Most beautiful majorette

Harrison High School senior Vicki Loyer has won the title as The World's Most Beautiful Majorette for 1978 from the World Twirling Association. The 17-year-old is captain of twirlers at her high school and is a teacher for the World Twirling Association. Her trophy is as tall as she is: five-foot, two-inches.

Musicale hosts showcase

The Farmington Musicale, an affiliate of the National Federation of Music Clubs, will present a showcase program for 12 of its performing members at 12:30 p.m. March 1 in Farmington Community Library, 2350 Liberty.

The recital is an outgrowth of the musicale's vocal and instrumental workshops.

Featured performers will be pianists Cora Barling, Mildred Bassman, Mary Behnan, Sandra Boake, Janice Smith and Albi Zachary.

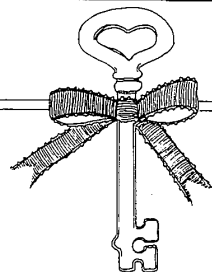

Soprano in the recital are Joyce Bigelow, Joan Bunker and Astra Kal-rine. The alto vocalist is Evelyn Book-walter. They will be accompanied by pianists Helen Anderson, Janice Smith and Marie Walck.

Co-chairmen of the vocal workshop are Ms. Bigelow and Anita Mallette. Elenora Skillman and Maxine Zeitz are co-chairmen of the instrumental workshop.

Chairman for the day will be Mrs. Joseph Hubbard. Her tea chairman is Mrs. William Stairs.

A guest fee of 50 cents will be asked. Make reservations by calling Mrs. James McElroy, 476-6221.

CLOSED TOMORROW
FOR INVENTORY

OPEN AGAIN MARCH 1
WEDNESDAY

Jacobson's