Terrible Croup Attack Quickly Repulsed By Old Reliable Remedy

Well known Georgia store keeper has cured croup and colds for his family of ten with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound.

The minute that hoarse, terrifying croupy cough is heard in the home of Mr. J. Barber, of Jefferson, Ga., out comes Foley's Honey and Tar Compound—there's always a bottle ready. Here's what he says: "Two of my children, one boy and a girl, aged eight and six years respectively, had terrible attacks of croup last winter and I completely cured them with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. I have ten in family and for years I've used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and it never fails!"

Barber writes and says doctor bills—keep Foley's Honey and Tar Compound always on hand. In your home one bottle lasts a long time—it's reliable and safe—and the last dose is as good as the first. Get the genuine.

The liners are money getters.

Moorish Courtesy.

The following story is told of the visit of a European diplomat to the sultan of Morocco. During the audience the sultan noticed with surprise that not one of the several clocks in the audience chamber was going. He mentioned in as delicate a manner as possible to the sultan that his clock had all stopped and blurted that he would like to present him with one that could be relied upon. The sultan thanked him with a smile, and added: "My clocks are excellent timekeepers. They were all going just before you came, but I had them stopped, as it did not desire during your excellency's all too brief visit to be reminded of the flight of time."

Recent observations made in northern Norway indicate that the average display of aurora borealis takes place at a height of from sixty to sixty-five miles.
