(A STATE BANK)

The Watchword

We felt the burden of War before we became actually involved, through the high cost of living. Now, inevitably prices will go higher. The Nation's need in this hour of crisis is THRIFT. We, as Americans must take sober thought in our expenditures

LET US DO OUR PART

Last Friday morning an alarm of fire took everyone to the vicinity of the school house, where the roof of the Warner house, occupied by John Shear and family, had ignited, probably from a spark from the kitchen chimney. The shingles were burned for a space of some five or six feet, but no great damage was done before a "bucket brigade" had the flames quenched. The fire department made a quick run to the scene, but their help was not needed.
