

WOMEN! IT IS MAGIC! LIFT OUT ANY CORN

Apply a few drops then lift corns or calluses off with fingers—no pain.

Just think! You can lift out any corn or callus without pain or soreness.
A Cincinnati man discovered this other compound and named it Freezone.
Any druggist will sell a tiny bottle of Freezone, like here shown, for very little cost.
You apply a few drops directly upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears; then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it right off.
Freezone is wonderful. It dries instantly. It doesn't eat away the corn or callus, but shrivels it up without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Hard, soft corns, blis-tens, the toes as well as the painful calluses, lift right off. There is no pain before or afterwards. If your druggist hasn't freezone, tell him to order a small bottle for you from the wholesale drug house—adv.

FARMERS ARE WORKING HARDER

And using their feet more than ever before.
For all these workers the frequent use of Allen's Foot-Powder, the antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes and sprinkled in the foot-bath, increases their efficiency and increases their physical comfort. It takes the friction from the shoe, freshens the feet, and prevents tired, aching and blistered feet.
Women everywhere are constant users of Allen's Foot-Powder. Don't get foot sore, get

NERVOUSNESS AND BLUES

Symptoms of More Serious Sickness.

Washington Park, Ill.—"I am the mother of four children and have been troubled, headache, nervousness and the blues. My children's loud talking and romping would make me so nervous I could just tear everything to pieces and I would scold and yell and feel over and over like I would not want anyone to talk to me at times. Lydia E. Pinkham's

POTATOES MENAGED BY SCAB AND SCURF

Seed Must Be Treated to Check Diseases, Say Experts.

REMEDIES ARE VERY SIMPLE

Use of Formaldehyde and Corrosive Sublimite Will Mean Big Saving to Michigan Farm-

East Lansing, Mich.—The old foes of the Michigan farmer, potato scab and black scurf, the latter known as "rhizoctonia" in exclusive scientific circles, will take the field in force this coming season to work havoc with the tuber crop—unless something is done to checkmate them, say potato specialists of the Michigan Agricultural College. The "something" which the potato experts are recommending is formaldehyde for the scab, or corrosive sublimate—where both the scab and black scurf are present. In those sections of the state where farmers failed to treat their seed last summer, the losses from black scurf alone ranged from 10 to 15 per cent of the crop in most cases, and as high as 25 per cent in others. In no field where those inspected was the loss greater than 2 per cent where the precaution had been taken to treat the seed.

Corrosive Sublimite Back Again.
"It's clean, smooth potatoes are deficient before planting," say the men who have studied the tubers through all their troubles and trials. "The scab can be reduced to a minimum. Fur-nurers in general must depend upon seed treatment to protect their crop. Long cuttings from the seed, and two cuttings from the other, the yield cut averaging about three tons to the acre.

"In addition to the alfalfa pasturage, grain ration of three parts corn and two parts middlings was fed to the sows at the rate of 2 1-10 pounds daily per 100 pounds live weight, making about a 3-5 full ration. A small amount of middlings was given the pigs in the creep, though the amount was increased as they grew. After the pigs were weaned, they were fed a mixture of two parts middlings and one part corn at the rate of three pounds daily per 100 pounds live weight, the middlings being decreased gradually, however, and the corn increased in proportion, until along toward fall they were getting around half part of corn and middlings. If they had been fed a full grain ration, from four and a half to five pounds of grain would have been required daily.

"The big thing which the experiment demonstrated was that it is practical and economical to pasture hogs in an alfalfa field and at the same time move the field for hay as if the hogs had not been placed in it. The pigs made good gains, the quality of the hay was not injured, and the straw of alfalfa was just as good the year following as were the alfalfa fields that had not been pastured."

Upper Peninsula Opens 'Out-Over Lands to Pasture as War Measure.

East Lansing, Mich.—One of the most decisive moves in the direction of increasing food production in Michigan has been made by upper peninsular men who have thrown open 25, 000 acres of out-over lands to any sheep or live-stock men who wish to fatten stock on them. The animal husbandry department of the Michigan Agricultural College accordingly has offered to act as intermediary between southern Michigan sheep and those north and the men in the Lake Superior country who have made the offer of free pastures.

In its essence the plan is this: Men with stock in southern Michigan have been invited to send their sheep north for the season to graze on the ideal pasture lands of the upper peninsula.
By doing the average which these animals require for fattening, it is estimated that the state will be made available for crops. The upper peninsula land on the other hand, because most of it has not been rich of stumps is unsuitable for crops in its present condition, but affords excellent pasture in fact which has been repeatedly demonstrated by experiments conducted by the college and by northern Michigan individuals. Men shipping their sheep or stags to the free pastures, however, will be required to pay their own transportation charges, and to make arrangements for having the sheep loaded after while they are on the range.

But even so, the plan is such a practicable one, that one of southern Michigan's biggest sheep men has already begun the long-hauled movement by making preparations to ship 2,000 head of sheep to the free pasture lands, while several thousand head have also come in from the West.

Sheepmen, and live-stock raisers have been invited, that they can be placed in touch with the live-stock end of the war plan by communicating with W. F. Raven, live-stock extension man for the college.

ALFALFA CUTS FEED COSTS

Pasturing Hogs in This Crop Makes It Possible to Reduce Grain Ration.

East Lansing, Mich.—Michigan farmers, who in these days of sky-high feed prices feel that fattening hogs on red grain is something like "robbing Peter to pay Paul," may be able to find a way out of their difficulties this season by pasturing their porkers on alfalfa, according to animal husbandry men of the Michigan Agricultural College. Alfalfa pasture, experiments have indicated, can be successfully substituted for much of the high-priced grain ration.

"Breeding animals pastured on alfalfa," the experimenters have found, "may be carried through the summer in good condition with very little grain, though growing shoats should get at least one-half full feed of grain, or from two to three pounds per 100 pounds live weight, as their digestive systems cannot handle a large amount of roughage."

"In trying out the pasturing plan in 1915 and 1916, ten acres of alfalfa of uniform stand were divided into two five-acre plots. Four portable cuts were placed in a small feed lot between the two pastures to give the animals protection from the sun and intemperate weather, while a creep was placed in one corner where the pigs could be fed by themselves. A hog offer, and a box containing salt and a conditioner were also provided, and fresh supplies daily in troughs and an automatic waterer. The idea of the experiment was to pasture the alfalfa lightly and move the remainder for hay."

"Eight sows with 80 spring pigs were turned into the No. 1 five-acre plot on May 12. No. 2 was mown on June 12, and later, when the crop in this second field was from 6 to 8 inches high the pigs were turned in here.
No. 1 was then mown. This plan was carried out through the summer, the pigs being transferred alternately from one field to the other and the remaining hay cut in the field they had left. Three cuttings of good hay were obtained from one field, and two
acre.

daily per 100 pounds live weight, mak-
would have been required daily.

No Baby Carriages in Japan.
One's first impression reaching Tokyo is that it is exceedingly well provided with means of transportation.
Up through the middle of the city runs the elevated trolley, under which scores of warehouses and shops utilize the covered space, and on this four-track trolley electric and steam trains enter and leave in steady streams. The streets are filled with automobiles, motorbikes, bicycles, man-drawn carts—every type of vehicle except the baby carriage. The baby carriage of Japan is the mother's back or the daddy's shoulder, and I have no doubt that this closeness of mother and child throughout months and years has much to do with the excellent behavior of the bright little babies. Street cars pass a given point every minute or two, and at a crossing there are always a half-dozen big trams in sight—"The Christian Herald."

Raising a Molycodile.
"My nephew, Leslie Postlewaite Snicker, was his mother's pride and joy," said old Polk N. Prod. "When he was small she dressed him in dainty garments until it was hard to determine whether he was his mamma's precious pet or a performing monkey.
As Leslie grew up she selected his neckties and his associates, and gratified his every wish until he became an unpronounced a sissy and painful sight as I ever witnessed. And then he married a square-shouldered young widow, with four children, red hair, and never knew what struck him."

True.
"This thing of being so much in love that you can't observe the man who knows," is not infrequently caused by the high price of flowers and theater tickets.—Widow.

First Long-Range Guns.
American ships of war were the first to carry long-range guns. Our "Long Toms" that figured in the War of 1812 far outranged any guns mounted on British or French ships, and small American vessels were able to destroy larger ships and check pursuit while keeping out of range of their adversaries' guns.
The most notable change in naval construction recorded in history followed the launching of the Monitor, a small, heavily armored ship with a heavily armored turret with its big gunturrets as we see it today.

Precious Time.
"Time is precious." We use the assertion at every turn of the day, but we neglect to add the inquiry which would straighten out many a tangle, and save much of the rush and worry and many mistakes. Time is so precious that we all need to learn the wisdom of putting first things first, and discriminating between the important and nonimportant. There is no room for everything, but there is always room for the duty that really belongs to us. There is room for it, or it is not ours. It is well said that "a life may be fairly judged by what it allows to be crowded out of it. d you ever try your life by that?"

The Old Door Plate.
The invention of modern apartments is said to have soured the kneel of the old-fashioned door plates but in the old times in America a man of any importance had his door undecorated by a plate upon which his name was engraved for all to see.

Place to Work.
If you intend to go to work, there is no better place than right where you are. If you don't intend to go to work, you cannot get along anywhere.

Cooking as High Art.
Cooking is a high art. A wise Egyptian said, long ago: "The degree of taste and skill manifested by a nation in the preparation of food may be regarded to be a very considerable extent proportioned to its culture and refinement."—Elizabeth Cadz Stanton.
