On Floor of the Ocean.
It is believed that in an enormous extent of the bed of the ocean is covered with lava and pumice stone. Still more remarkable is it to find the floor of the ocean covered in many parts with the dust of meteorites. These bodies which about in the heavens like miniature comets, and are for the most part broken into innumerable fragments.

Lightning Conductors.
The best conductors of lightning, are metals, gas coke, graphite, solutions of salts, acids and water. The best non-conductors, ending with the most perfect insulation, are India rubber, gutta-percha, dry air and gases, wool, ebonite, silk, glass, wax, sulphur, resins and paraffin.

Window Sills.
A jut in a window, which has no sill, may be made to look attractive by placing a box in it, and by proper covering be transformed into a windowsill. A cover may be blinged on the front, and the interior used for storage purposes. In small rooms such a nook is impossible, as it takes up too much space.

Daylight at Night.
One of Edison's latest inventions is a portable searchlight, mounted on cart wheels, which will illuminate the side of a building at a distance of over 200 feet, producing at night practically the same as if moonlight. From the axle is suspended a box of batteries, which are always ready for use.

Sensation of Hunger.
The sensation of hunger may not be an evidence of the immediate need of food. The people of Ireland, used to voluptuous rations of potatoes, complain of starvation and hunger when given greater food values, but of smaller bulk. The same is true of the bread-eating peasants of Bavaria when put on a meat diet.

Ostrich Ways.
It is no uncommon thing to see a male ostrich strutting about followed by three or four distinct broods, all of different sizes. When the incubating process is completed the cock bird leads his young ones off and, if he is followed by another proud pair, engages in a terrific combat with him. The vanquished bird retreats without a single chick, while the other, surrounded by the two broods, walks away triumphant.

Bond's '15 Clothes

Direct to You from Our Own Factory

—That's how we are able to give you these values. Figure it out for yourself: When you buy of a retailer you know you must pay enough to cover his profit and expenses, else he wouldn't be in business. And you pay enough to cover the cost of road salesmen who sell the merchandise to the retailer. You pay enough to cover possible losses through bad accounts. When you buy at Bond's you buy for cash, direct from the manufacturer, and thereby eliminate from your cost these unnecessary expense items.
