

SERIOUSLY WOUNDED FRENCH ON WAY HOME

On their way home again to beloved France these soldiers are happy despite their wounds and suffering. They are on their way to Lyons from Constance, and the members of the Red Cross are welcoming them as their train waits at the railroad station in Genera. When an exchange of seriously windred was agreed upon early in 1915. Switzerland placed her splendidly equipped hospital trains at the disposal of her belilgerent neighbors.
