The Old School House

(Written by Jennie Ely-Meloy.)
The old school house is burning, Tom,
I see it in the night,
The flames leap high and angrily,
They burn with all their might,
The sky all round is lighted, Tom,
I hear the timbers fall,
The flames fly high as the winds do blow,
But there's scarce no sparks at all,
The old school bell is silent, Tom,
No more will we hear it chime,
No more we will hear it ring,
Calling us in at nine,
Somehow the things were used to, Tom,
Are the ones that are taken away,
But it seems the same the wide world o'er,
Go search where'er you may,
The old school house was altered some,
Our reading room gave way
To a room of ample measurement,
And there the children played,
And way up stairs alone, Tom,
Way up that winding stair,
The room in which we lingered last,
You found our babies there.

For thirty years the building stood—
For thirty changing years—
Each year denotes a fearless class,
Assuming life's great exerts,
And who and I were part, Tom,
Of those who went to work;
That old school building loomed us
Strength,
And but we never shrink,
I look across the open vale,
On the old familiar hills,
Where once was life and bloom;
All this to mine and mine,
Naught is left now but a blackened wall,
A heap of crumbling stone;
The storm sweeps o'er the desolate pile,
The left alone, alone,
Naught remains now but memories, Tom,
To blot us out and all,
But may they prove a lasting tie,
Till each one gets his call,
And when our time shall come, Tom,
We'll be called to go,
We'll all renew these memories
That linger here below,
Don't forget our liner column.

From All Over,

Many of the schools around the county are closed in order to conserve fuel.

The officers and directors of the Lincoln club have decided to postpone the annual banquet of the club, which was to have been held February 12th, until a later date, on account of the fuel and food conservation observance.

The 8-year-old son of Albert Brandt, of Ortonville, was run over by a north bound limited on the D. U. R. last Sunday, breaking his left arm and mangle his left leg so badly that amputation was necessary, which resulted fatally, and he died only a few hours after the accident.

Mrs. Charles Halstead entertained on Saturday, January 19th, at a miscellaneous shower given in honor of Mrs. William Hunt, formerly Miss Bertha Gimmer. The house, which was beautifully decorated, was filled with friends of Mrs. Hunt, who felt it a pleasure to give an opportunity of returning some of the little courtesies Bertha had always been so free and ready to extend to her wide circle of friends. The ladies came in sleigh loads, which added materially in putting them in a frame of mind to enter into the afternoon's festivities with the spirit of having the best possible time.

In the center of their dining room table was arranged a miniature church, bride and groom. The afternoon was spent in games and visiting. Mrs. Hunt received many useful and beautiful gifts. A delicious buffet luncheon was served to about 60 relatives and friends of the bride and groom. Guests were present from Novi, West Bloomfield, North Farmington and Detroit.

Girls' Statement Will Help Farmington

Here is the girl's own story: "For years I had dyspepsia, sour stomach and constipation. I drank hot water and olive oil by the gallon. Nothing helped until I tried buckhorn bark, glycerine, etc. I read in Advertiser a ONE SPOONFUL helped me INSTANTLY." Because Advertiser flushes the ENTIRE alimentary tract it relieves ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has QUICK-EST action of anything we ever sold. H. McGee.
