

THE SPRING DRIVE

Our boys are going "Over the top" and into "No man's land" this spring. No one has any doubt of their ability to get there. There will also be a spring drive on this side of the ocean, because March is the year's "blue Monday." It is the most fatal month of the year. March and April is a time when resistance usually is at lowest ebb. It is a trying season for the "run-down" man. But medical science steps in and says, "It need not be!" We should cultivate a love of health, a sense of responsibility for the cure of our bodies, to not allow the machinery of the body to clog. Put the stomach and liver in proper condition. Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, to be had at most drug stores in tablet or liquid form, tablets sixty-cents a vial, composed of native herbs. This puts the stomach and liver in proper condition. You may be plodding along, no spring no elasticity, no vim, but as soon as you have put the body into its normal physical condition—oiled the machinery, as it were—you will find new vim, vigor and vitality within you. A little pep, and to laugh and live. Try it now. Send Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c. for trial package. A little energy will save the day. The prime necessity of life is health. With spirit and energy you have the power to force yourself into action. The Golden Medical Discovery is the spring tonic which you need.

Always Particular.
He had been the nuttiest of the nut before he trod the paths of crime; and he was to be hanged on the following day.
"Have you any request to make?" inquired the governor of the prison, according to time-honored tradition.
"Well, if you could let me tie the noose myself," suggested the condemned one. "Never did care to these ready-made ties—don't want to start now."

News of the Tailored Blouse

"The plainer the better" has become almost an axiom in the case of tailored blouses. We believe it high season, with a few reservations, to cover those clever novelties that are not as plain as they look. This spring materials are in plain colors and in narrow stripes, there are blouses in which the accessories, collars and cuffs, are made of checked silk or the gingham, and then plenty of small checks and almost imperceptible plaits in both plain and striped solids.

In tailored blouses there is also a veering toward high-necked styles. Narrow striped voiles have high collars and small chemises in white set in and finished with rows of very small pearl buttons. These close-set rows of buttons, by the way, are featured on all the best blouses whether they belong to the tailored or the dressy class. But the high-necked blouse is not likely to supersede, or even equal, the blouse with open throat in popularity, because the open throat is much more comfortable in hot weather.

Three Lovely Hats for Easter

The woman who dresses with skill requires much of her Easter hat. It must be chic, becoming, suited to the season and expressive of some phase of the new styles. Our hats are full-ures if we do not look at them with their thin without them; that is the test of millinery. They must reveal our good points and conceal defects—"Be to our faults a little blind, and to our virtues not unkind."

The foundation of becomingness lies in shape, and those who originate and design shapes have to have a subtle knowledge of lines that are becoming to the various types of faces. It is worth while to take plenty of time to find if becoming hat for it will be a joy as long as it lasts.
Three lovely hats for Easter are shown in the group above. A wide-brimmed, all-black hat of moline with milan crown has a suggestion of the poke bonnet in the brim that lifts at the front, droops at the sides, and curves upward at the back. It has a lattice-work design applied about the brim edge, which may be of slipper-streak of a narrow, velvet ribbon. There is a handsome ornament at the front of the artist feathers, in black, which does not conceal the contour of the crown. It is one of those mysteries in feathers which only the manufacturer can clear up. This is a hat for a youthful face.

Suited to a more mature head is the charming hat at the left side of the group. It has a very graceful, rolling brim faced with silk and bound with the same soft pliable braid that forms the crown and upper brim. Its trimming is mainly the glowing "cock's comb" of burnt ostrich that extends the length of the crown, but this is the day of much trimming, so a collar of braid and silk and two tiny wings at least, are in evidence; there may be two others and the chances are that they are all lacquered.
Another becoming shape appears at the right. It droops with a slight upward curve at the left side. It is faced with a gauze crepe. As things go this spring, the trimming on this model may be described as simple. It is of satin ribbon—plenty of it—arranged in a full sash, and an elaborate bow at each side fastened with a handsome buckle.
