

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. I followed her advice from my troubles."

"I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."

—Mrs. Marie Boyd, 1421 E. St. N. E., Canton, Ohio.

HAD NO CHANCE WITH HIM

Easy to Understand Why Blinkers Carried Off the Honors With His Carnival Costume.

When the Sleazem Tennis club held a carnival in aid of war funds every body wanted to talk about Blinkers. What costume would he wear? His clothes were too thin for knee-breeches and his arms too slender for a Viking while his small head, scint of hair would be lost in an antique helmet.

On the great day, however, Blinkers was first favorite. All the ladies crowded round him and vied for him to have the prize, while William the Conqueror and Hummel looked dismayed around alone.

A late arrival, tugged out as a reluctant Roman warrior, asked: "What's the trouble with you fellows? You all look so cheerful as a wet week."

"It's that Blinkers," quire a chorus of the crowd. "The little brute who carried a Margina, marked down, and every blessed girl in the place is fighting to get near him."—London Tit-Bits.

PARIS GOES MAD WITH JOY WHEN PERSHING APPEARS

Half a Million Persons Struggle to Get Glimpse of American Leader.

Streets Resound With Cheers for Yanks Commander When Girl Discovers Him in Passing Auto.

Paris.—All Paris held a noisy tribute to Gen. John J. Pershing when the crowds in the street, headed the American commander, seeing in his automobile. It is estimated that at least fifty thousand persons crowded about the general's car while half a million more waited the place in the Champs Elysees and adjacent streets in a mad effort to get a glimpse of the American leader.

The general was out for a short drive and had come to the Rue de la Paix. His car was proceeding at a snail's pace before it was recognized by the frenzied street crowds.

As General Pershing's face, with the famous smile, showed through the door, a French girl with the bang of half a dozen nations rushed toward her and screamed, "General Pershing!"

The cry was taken up instantly and passed over the seething multitudes. If there were any gas masks about they were swallowed up in the enormous mob. In an instant men and women, went mad and screamed his name, and all tried to reach the car.

Men picked up women and held them on their shoulders as they tried to get a look at the general. The mob surged toward the car in another wave.

Shakes Hands of Children. General Pershing smiled the danger was on his shoulders. He looked out of the window and waving the driver to get out before they were crushed a death, he let the window down full length, laughed heartily, and thrust his hand out of the window to shake the hand of a little French boy who had been lifted her above the heads of the mob.

Children climbed on the fender and shined up the back of the automobile and frantically tried to get their hands on the general's hand.

"Pershing! Pershing!" beheld the mob, and the name rang from the Champs Elysees, and through the Tuilleries gardens.

Efforts to Stop Way Fail. French officers who had been caught up in the human maelstrom saluted and then endeavored to have the mob move away. As if by common impulse the masses seemed to understand that he great American general was in danger, and with a crashing of heads and the screams of women and children a slight rift was made directly ahead of the car. Then by less than a snail's pace the general's car made a northward dash, inch by inch.

The cheering was indescribable. Along the boulevards the name of Pershing was taken up by thousands who probably did not know him. Pershing was in their midst, and at the moment it seemed that all Paris was shouting.

By this time the inside of Pershing's car resembled a toy shop. The children who were raised over the heads of the frantic people, waved their flags and flowers through the window and the grownups tore the insignia from their coats and tossed it in. General Pershing was laughing heart and soul. The French people were shouting, but still the flag and floral offerings poured in until he was half buried beneath the bunting, flags, buttons, insignia, and crushed bouquets.

Moves Inch by Inch. Inch by inch the car moved and then halted several minutes as the mob surged back against it. It was the car he had used over the battlefield of France and was built for rough usage, else it seems it must have crushed like an egg shell.

Finally the car edged out of the Place de la Concorde into the Champs Elysees, but still the mob, with hats off, arms in air, mouths wide open, shouting his name, surged about him. It was several minutes more before the car could be extricated and a semblance of a road made.

Even then, as the car got away up the great avenue toward the Arc de Triomphe, thousands ran after it. All Paris seemed to be running with a mighty noise and over the mighty noise sounded, clear and strong, "Vive Pershing!"

APPEALED TO NOVELISTS

Fully a score of novels have been written round the case of Lesauques, who was wrongfully executed in France for the robbery of the Lyons mail and the murder of the courier; the real criminal was one named Du-bouché, to whom Lesauques bore a striking resemblance. The crime also formed the subject of several stage dramas; in one of them Sir Henry Irving won a success in the dual part of Lesauque and Du-bouché.

within a few days, and to have all the men on their way back to the United States ten days later.

The plans for clearing England of American troops are incomplete, but it is desired to remove these men immediately, as some shipping is available for this purpose. Most of the 18,000 men are helping the British air force.

The American hospital corps will be left in England until a policy for carrying for future cases of illness among the Americans has been decided upon.

The belief is expressed at army headquarters that very few Americans will be left long in England. It is thought that the hospitals in France can care for future needs.

German Navy Surrendered. London.—There has just been seen the greatest naval surrender which the world has ever witnessed.

A great fleet of German battleships, battle cruisers, and light cruisers and destroyers left port for an unknown destination. They were met by the British fleet, accompanied by American and French representatives, and conducted to their destination.

A Berlin telegram received in Amsterdam gives this list of the vessels comprising the best of the German navy that were to be handed over:

Battleships—Kaiser, Kaiserin, König Albert, Kronprinz Wilhelm, Prinz Regent Luitpold, Markgraf, Grosser Kurfürst, Bayern, König Friedrich der Grosse.

Battle cruisers—Flamming, Derfflinger, Selditz, Moltke, Von der Tann.

Light cruisers—Bremen, Brummer, Frankfurt, Köln, Dresden, Emden.

Germany has been stripped of at least half of the fleet of dreadnoughts which it had in commission or building when war began, and of practically all of its battle cruisers.

Yanks in Triumphant March. With the American Army of Occupation, the American army, which is moving forward steadily over the territory evacuated by the retreating Germans, is being received with wild demonstrations of joy by the residents of the towns which are now being liberated after more than four years of German rule.

When the American troops entered Brice, the heart of the Luthringian iron fields, they passed under triumphal arches that had been hurriedly erected by the people of the town, and the streets through which they passed were bedecked with flags. On one arch through which the Americans passed was a handsome American flag that had been hurriedly erected by the people of the town, and the streets through which they passed were bedecked with flags.
