Auto Specialty Firm Locates In Farmington

FARMINGTON Kem Krest Products Company, manufacturer and developer of automotive chemicals and specialties, has moved its general offices and plant to a new building at 24664 Hathaway St., Farmington Township.

NEW HOME - Kem Krest Products Co. 24664 Hathaway, Farmington

The firm's old location was 13001 Puritan Ave., Detroit.

The company specializes in car care chemicals, such as glass cleaners. The firm also manufactures car accessories such as a battery warmer, and more recently has been working on an automatic delay switch.

That switch, if perfected, could end dead batteries for absent-minded motorists. The switch would turn off car headlights after a certain period of time. Aside from providing a check against dead batteries the switch might also be used to keep lights on while you enter your house late at night, then shut them off after you are inside.

THE NEW structure was needed for more manufacturing space, according to Andrew J. Plattner, Kem Krest president.

The two-story office section of the new building is of yellow brick construction and contains 2,800 square feet of floor space. The plant area behind is one story but of equal height and contains 4,500 square feet.

Plattner said the building was constructed by the R.W. McCarthy Construction Co. of Southfield under a long-term lease arrangement.

"The quiet country atmosphere, coupled with the accessibility of freeways, gives us every advantage," Plattner explained. "We even have a view."

To get your steam down during the hot days, do as Lois and Keith Deacon of Pepperhill did! As the month of August rolled in, they had a Christmas party. Approximately 20 guests arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Deacon where the front door was decorated with a pine cone wreath; the garage door was covered with Christmas greenery; Christmas cloths dressed the buffet table and the outdoor picnic table had Christmas lights framed the back doorway.

There were Christmas arrangements centered with large candles on tables and some of the ladies received a Christmas gift of a decorated Christmas scatter pin. It was the wee hours of the morning when Christmas ended for those that were celebrating it in August.

MRS. JEANNE LOE of Hidden Valley doesn't quite know "Whether to cry or to raise the flag" as she puts it. She says she's not quite summer-conditioned for losing her children two at a time to the demands of this modern society.

On Wednesday, at Gate 11 at Metro Airport, she saw her 20-year-old son, Dave, off for the Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, Tex. Prior to his enlistment in the Air Force, Dave spent two years at Eastern Michigan University.

On Thursday of the same week, Jeanne, was back down at Metro with her 18-year-old daughter, Claudia, newly graduated from North Farmington High School, off for the American Institute for Foreign Study at Sullar College in Neckar, near Stuttgart, Germany. Claudia, too, was due to leave at Gate 11.

Other Farmingtonites attending the American Institute for Foreign Study, where they will study German for four weeks and then tour London, Paris, and Switzerland, are Sandra Thielemann of Shady Lane, Charliott Knight of Glencastle, Sarah Gahagan of Briarport, Barb Najjar of Highmeadow, Sue Belgard of Peleebeck, Kathy Beno of Hidden Valley and the chaporons, Mrs. Morse, the German language teacher at North Farmington High School. The group will be gone for six weeks, after which, many of the young ladies will head for their college locations.

THE YOUNGEST daughter Wanda, 15, got back just in time from a three-week boat trip, to say goodbye to her sister and brother. The boat's skipper were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Richardson of Old Homestead and the crew included their children, Rodney, Randy and Rana, also Larry Morgan, formerly of Old Homestead.

If you're wondering where Jeanne's 17-year old son is during all the family's comings and goings, he was up at Michigan State, attending the Wrestling Clinic, though football is his first love.
