

Locklin Pines is for the birds...

and the fish, the deer
and many other beautiful creatures.

Between the lake, thousands of fifty-year-old pine trees and a wildlife sanctuary, there just isn't a whole lot of room left for people. Only 2-4 families per acre. But for those who like lakeside living in a natural West Bloomfield setting, we are making a few exceptions.

Locklin Pines is sure to be the most unique development you've ever seen. The homes are detached condominiums which means each home is separate. No two homes ever touch each other. They come in a variety of ranch and colonial elevation treatments with from 2 to 5 bedrooms. Every home comes complete with a 2 car garage, basement, kitchen appliances, Andersen windows, decks, balconies and some even feature private court yards and atriums.

The unusually high craftsmanship and materials standards at Locklin Pines are maintained by the builder, Rex Bennett, who lives there himself and is more than willing to make any custom modifications you desire.
