Colonial and Classic design.

Time to pick up the car and start east down Grand River. The home of Dr. Ann H. Samborski, 32600 Grand River features Greek Revival accents with an early Victorian-style Mansard roof. The oldest part of the home was built in the 1810s. The living room floor is secured with wooden pegs.

16) Lunch time: Botsford Inn, 28000 Grand River has been a mecca for travelers since 1836. It is the oldest operating inn in the state and was a stop on the stage coach route from Detroit to Lansing. A treasure house for those whose appetites are whetted by antiques, a lot of charm and good food.

The Farmington Historical Commission is now in the process of installing markers on many of the homes mentioned plus other sites of special significance.

The same types of projects are being carried out in Farmington Hills, although documentation is not as far along.

The drive through Farmington Hills is less rigid. There are two homes on Power which runs north from Grand River, between Orchard Lake and Farmington. It jogs to the right at Shiawassee.

The Robert Rowe home, 21770 Power, is between Ten and Eleven Mile. Built in the 1850s, it has some Greek Revival characteristics. It originally contained 22 rooms, but at some time in the past a north wing burned and the basement foundation was re-discovered during excavation for a home on the north lot. There is a full Michigan basement under the Rowe home and each room is carefully split to provide a flat inside surface. The huge hand-hewn attic beams are raised, cut and stopped through each other.

The Rowe home stands on land which was part of the original tract belonging to Farmington founder, Arthur Power. On the northwest corner of Power and Eleven Mile is a white columned home that was once the Philbrick Tavern. It is said the tavern, under Quaker ownership, was a stop on the Underground Railway.
