

Ready for the bazaar

Items ready to go up for sale in a Grecian Market Place are viewed by Mrs. John E. Zervos, at left, and Mrs. Sam Kapan, both members of the Holy Cross Greek Orthodox Ladies Auxiliary. The Southfield women are heading up the bazaar set to be held Sept. 16-17 in Franklin Community Church, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday, and from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday. Greek foods, recipes, demonstrations, handcrafted items and Greek imports are all on the agenda. (Staff photo by Harry Mauthe)

Barn sale Sept. 10-11

Community Living Centers, Inc. will hold its second annual barn sale Sept. 10 and 11 in the Wagner House barn, 3021 Thirteenth Mile, between Middle Belt and Orchard Lake roads, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day.

The sale will feature a wide variety of good quality new and used clothing, antiques, china, furniture, silver, small appliances, toys, books, household items, glassware and games.

The event is held to raise money for the mentally handicapped who live in the six family-type homes in Oakland County, all of whom work in sheltered workshops, have jobs in the community, or attend rehabilitation training centers.

Community Living Centers is a non-profit organization dedicated to helping the retarded by providing, supervising and maintaining a family home environment, and encouraging them to help themselves to physically and socially integrate into community life.

The organization was founded in 1968 by a group of concerned parents, community leaders and professional people.

The office is located at 3322 Grand River, in Farmington, with Mary Wagner, executive director.

Mrs. Edgar Moshammer, of Farmington, is in charge of the sale, assisted by Mrs. Norman Burns, of Farmington Hills. Refreshments and a bake sale, featuring yeast and tea breads, will be managed at a booth by Mrs. T. Dornbroski, of Warren.

Hadassah opens with Jewish music

The opening fall meeting of the Metropolitan Detroit Chapter of Hadassah will feature a "Potpourri of Jewish Music."

Scheduled for 12:15 a.m. on Sept. 7 at Congregation Sharey Zedek in Southfield, the meeting will be chaired by Mrs. Peter A. Martin of Southfield, chapter president.

Coffee and dessert will be served.

Mrs. Stanley Lieberman of New York, a member of Hadassah's National Board and national major gifts coordinator, will be guest speaker.

The musical program will feature Mrs. Jerome Kaufman and Mrs. Albert Newman. Both artists are former Detroit chapter presidents.

Program chairman is Mrs. Emory Klein, a chapter vice president.

There will be an early bird drawing for paid-up members, who are present, and a baby-sitting service for children two and older is available.
