with white floral designs throughout. The dining room has several American Empire style furniture pieces in it, combined with other traditional American styles. It is typically mixed like the rest of the house.

Part of the mix are Oriental pieces, mementoes of travel to the Far East.

The frosting on this cake with the retirees on top, is the master bedroom suite. It is complete with dressing room and library and can be closed off entirely from the rest of the house for privacy when the youngsters are entertaining.

To complete the picture, a cedar deck runs along the rear of the house overlooking a steep hill covered with a forest of diverse trees that drop leaves that never have to be raked!
