Southfield schools figure minority tally

More minority students are enrolled in Southfield public schools this year according to an official school census. The number of minority students, however, still accounts for only seven per cent of the school population.

Ethnic counts are made each year by school districts nationwide as required by the U.S. Office of Civil Rights. The count includes American Indians, blacks, Orientals, whites and persons with Spanish surnames.

Elementary and secondary students in the school district this year totaled 12,913. In a breakdown by ethnic groups, 12,099 students are white, 210 have Spanish surnames, 141 are Oriental, 67 are black and 18 are American Indians.

Blacks constitute the largest ethnic group, accounting for 1.4 per cent of the students. Last year, blacks represented 1.2 per cent of the student population. The count found that all ethnic groups, with the exception of whites and those with Spanish surnames, increased in numbers since last school year.

AMERICAN INDIANS account for less than one per cent of the students enrolled in Southfield. Number 11 Elementary School, with five Indians enrolled, has the largest number of Indians in one school. Southfield High School has 15 blacks among its more than 2,000 students. This represents the largest black population in any one school in the district. Magnolia Elementary School holds the greatest percentage of blacks, more than 36 per cent. The figure is based on 14 blacks enrolled among the 41 students in the small elementary school.

Persons with Spanish surnames account for less than 0.3 per cent of the total student population. Nearly one quarter of the 41 students with Spanish surnames are enrolled at Southfield High School. Southfield High has the next highest number with 23. Orientals represent 1.2 per cent of the school district. Southfield High School again has the greatest number of minority students, with 21 Oriental students enrolled.

To split the number of ethnic groups at Southfield High, more than nine out of every 10 students in the school is white. Magnolia Elementary has the lowest whites, 62 per cent. After is next with more than 75 per cent. Whites amount to comprise 90 per cent in most schools. Burles, Middle School, has the list with whites making up 97 per cent of the student enrollment. Burles has five minority students among the 100 enrolled.

The ethnic count was taken during the third fiscal year. The membership count taken in September. Results of the ethnic count were released earlier this week.
