Southfield High downs Livonia Churchill

The Southfield High-Livonia Churchill basketball game last Tuesday night wasn't the kind a coach would want to take, movies of for a training film. Southfield defeated Churchill, 53, in the non-league contest, which was filled with mistakes from start to finish.

Two vital statistics, shooting percentages and turnovers, give a good indication of what the game was like.

Southfield attempted 56 field goals and made 18 for 22.1 percent. Churchill was even coller from the floor, trying 53 shots and making 14 for 254 per cent. Southfield was charged with 50 tumovers, while Churchill made 18. Still, Southfield coach Don Kaump wasn't all that unhappy with his team's performance after the game. Tiguess it wasn't too artistic the way we played," admitted Kaump, whose team climbed to 42 overall. "But we have to scratch for every victory we get this season, and we'll take them any way we can."

The game started with a mistake as Southfield's Rothory Rice, a 6-9 senior, was detected dunking the ball during the pre-game warrunp, and was charged with a technical foul. Churchill's Tom Bay sank the technical, but things went downhill from there for the Chargers. Southfield never really was in trouble and had leads of 14-9 after one quarter and 22-18 at half-time.

Churchill made a comeback for awhile in the second quarter and tied the score at 18-all with 1:41 left in the half, but the Chargers fell cold again the the third quarter, scoring only four points to Southfield's 14. RICE, WHO was starting his first game this season, played a strong game, scoring 11 points and grabbing some key rebounds. "We're still looking for a fifth man," Kaump said, "Maybe it!1 be Rilce. He has a nice shooting touch and he can really jump. That (illegal) dunk shot before the game was the first one he ever made. He surprized himself by doing it."

Marvin Miles led the Blue Jays' balanced scoring effort with 16 points on six field goals and four of six free throws. Paul Wilkie, a senior forward, added-seven points. "We got a streng game from Wilkie," Kaump said. "He only scored seven points, but he hastled real well, and he got some rebounds."

only scored seven points, out ne layed real well, and he got some rebounts to the layed some rebounds as statistics showed Churchill holding a 8-182 rebounding e.ge over Southfield. Ron Nutter, a substitute, led Churchill's scoring efforts with 16 points on five field goals and six of eight from the line. Bay added nine, willed Craig Hanton and Ralph Jarnot each had six.

The fouls added up for both teams. Southfield was whisted for 24, and Churchill was called for 23. Two Churchill players. Sipes and Paul Eberly, let the game with five fouls. Southfield plays next on Friday.

The continue free throw once again became a raw and costly commodity to the Groves Falcons Tuesday night. Their foul flow and costly commodity to the Groves Falcons Tuesday night. Their foul flow familier resulted in a 88-85 loss at the hands of the Ferndale Eagles in a nonleague encounter. Coach Jay Schwalm's crew controlled the tempo of the context much of the way, and scored 28 field goals to the Eagles' 25. But at the free throw line, Ferndale won the game converting 18 of 27, while Groves managed only nine of 22.

Schwalm confirmed the importance of the free throws, and added. We should not be shooting fouls that badly. We shoot them well in practice, but in the game, they just haven't been falling in the game, they just haven't been falling in the throughout the first half and cook a 38-21 lead at halftime, largely on the strength of a 15-point first, half by serior guard Craig Masss. After suffering through a cold-shooting first quarter, the 64-swing man penetrated Ferndale's zone and man-to-man defenses for lay-ups and short bank shots on his way to a 5-point night.

BUT IN THE SECOND half, Ferndale tried still another defense, the box and one, a four-man zone with the fifth man assigned to shadow Maass all over the Hoor. Using this tactic, the Engles held Maass to only nine second-half points, while scoring more themselves.

Bill Phillips had his usual big night to lead Southfield-Lathrup to a 74-67 victory over non-league Oak Park High last Tuesday at Oak Park. Not only did Phillips score a whopping 36 points, but the 6-foot-7 senior center also grabbed 27 rebounds to tie a school record set by John Gardner in 1974.

Phillips, who also holds the school scoring record, was 17 of 30 from the field against Oak Park. He was two of six-from the free throw line. Teammate Mark Kontry, a 62 forward, added 16 points, and Larry Kling had eight points and eight rebounds.
