

Eateries multiply

able in the pub every night and also intend to get involved with Farmington business groups.

"We wanted a change of scenery," said Dunleavy, although they admit that old customers of The Press Club and the downtown Dunleavy pub will recognize the menu and style of their previous endeavors.

ANGIE'S, located on Orchard Lake Road south of Fourteen Mile, formerly housed Henry Yee's Forbidden City, and Yee sold the place to his attorney, Scott Scherrer.

"It didn't take a mental giant to know that this area needed a place for dancing," says Scherrer, who sold his partnership in the Trot Inn and invested about $210,000 in the new "un-disco" in Farmington Hills.

"I always wanted to buy a business that was downhill and salvage it," said the 27-year-old lawyer, whose law practice and home are in Farmington Hills.

"I also have enough experience to know that you hire someone with good experience to run it," he quipped. Former Playboy Club manager Bob Mijatovich is the man Scherrer selected to manage his new club. Mijatovich, though he consults with Scherrer, has definite ideas in mind for Angie's.

"We're trying to have something unique, more of a club than a bar," says Mijatovich, and live music versus the canned music of discos is an integral part of the scene.

Like The Buggy Works, a number of the 25 employees have spent a lot of hours renovating the interior including carpeting the walls, installing a sound system, and attempting to create a casual atmosphere to sip drinks and munch on snacks.

Food isn't the priority at Angie's, although Mijatovich is expanding the menu to include dinner selections and an extensive wine selection. Fashion shows and dance instruction are also planned for off-nights.

Mijatovich hopes the 22-35 age group will be attracted to the spot, though parking and identity remain the major problems in getting the 3-month-old operation off the ground.

Although Scherrer admits bars are a money-oriented business, he believes in being success-oriented. "I had excess capital, and being a tax attorney, it didn't take long to figure out what to do with the money."

Speculative businesses don't seem to faze Scherrer, and he claims to have already seen a 36 per cent increase in his investment, but he admits that location is still an obstacle.

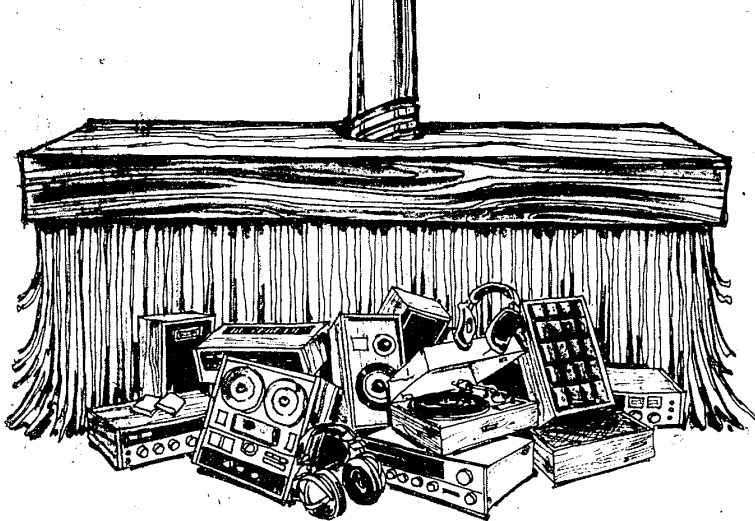

FOR THOSE ready to experiment with other new dining spots, The Golden Platter in Drakeshire Plaza on Grand River and the House of Lee, formerly House of Huey, just down the road are recent additions to Farmington.

Farmington Hills abounds with new spots including Courtina's on Ten Mile east of Orchard Lake Road; New Deli formerly Mr. M's on Orchard Lake Road south of Twelve Mile; Bill Knapp's on Grand River between Gill and Drake; Inn on the Park in Industrial Park, recently re-opened; Burger Chef on Twelve Mile east of Farmington Road; Big Boy on Orchard Lake Road at Ten Mile; Pizza Hut on Ten Mile east of Orchard Lake Road; and Taco Bell at 2740 Grand River.

The Winery, on Grand River near Orchard Lake Road, will be yet another dining spot for suburbanites when it officially opens.
