Witch Watch
by GUNDELLA

We have all seen the old movies on television, and watched as the gypsy reads the cards for the young hero. Suddenly she turns over the Major Arcana card 13-death.

She then throws the card down or picks them all up, refusing to tell him what she has seen because it is so terrible.

Whoever writes these scenes knows little about the interpretation of tarot. In reality, the card does not depict tragedy. It is a card of life and hope.

Key Card XIII usually shows a picture of a skeleton dressed in black robes, riding a white horse and carrying a banner. Beneath the feet of the horse lies the bodies of those who have fallen—kings and peasants alike.

At first glance, this certainly doesn't appear to be a pretty picture. But closer examination shows us a gateway between two towers, and we see the sun on the horizon too. In the background, the river of life flows on.

WHEREVER THERE IS LIFE, there is constant change. Old ideas give way to new. When one door closes, another opens. Kings and governments fall, and new leaders and constitutions rise up to take their places. The river of life flows on through it all.

It has been said that death is the twin brother of life. Where there is life, there is death; where there is death, it is followed by rebirth and new life.

Hunt became a CIA member in 1949, serving in various posts, including Field Chief of Political Action to overthrow the Castro regime in 1960. During that time he wrote political espionage and intelligence manuals to cover up his intelligence activities.

After retiring from the CIA in 1960, he became involved with several White House aides in an involvement which eventually led to the Watergate burglary and his subsequent conviction and imprisonment.

Hunt will conduct a question and answer period after his lecture.

Death-be not proud

Look again at the death card. In the distance it is a gateway leading into a new green land. See the sun on the horizon? It is rising or setting. Does it really matter? For as the sun sets at one point, it rises at another.

The water as it flows to the sea is sucked up by the sun to form clouds from which the rain falls into the rivers and streams again. The water you and I are drinking today has been here since the beginning. It has been recycled again and again in this manner.

SO IT IS with life. Birth is always followed by death, and death by new birth into eternity.

We are told in the scriptures that heaven and earth shall pass away, and that only that life force, that universal power men call God, shall remain constant.

When you look at the Tarot death card, you should not let it terrify you, for death will come to us all. The skeleton, as the framework for the body, is symbolic of the union between it and the soul.

This card represents not physical death, but any change or transformation; perhaps the end of a bad period in your life and the coming of new opportunities, the leaving of one job for another, new ventures, creativity.

In other words, the death card simply means new life.
