

Meet Mr. Clean Ralph Bell Can Do It

By ED WENDOVER

FARMINGTON
In announcing an October Farmington Township cleanup program, Ralph Bell, township building inspector, says he hopes it is as successful as the one held last May in Section 36.

Bell lauded the section's residents for their help and initiative in the May drive saying: "They did real well in cooperating."

SECTION 36, a low-income area bounded by Nine Mile, Middle Belt, Eight Mile and Inkster Roads, was the area of concentration for the cleanup campaign sponsored by the Township Beautification Committee.

Because of the immense loads of rubbish, appliances and furniture discarded, Bell said the expense for the collection was some $6,500. And this cost could have been higher, Bell added, had it not been for the fine cooperation from residents in setting out refuse near the street.

Bell, who serves as a liaison between the committee and the township building department, has been credited with assisting the section's residents improve their neighborhood. He has been instrumental in getting eight condemned houses in the area torn down and their lots restored to use.

IN AN Enterprise & Observer interview, Bell said that specifics concerning the cleanup drive would be released later. He says an extra rubbish pickup would be instituted to remove old appliances and furniture.

"We also are urging township residents to be more concerned with the problem of abandoned autos," Bell said. He expressed the hope that citizens will take the initiative to have unsightly cars removed.

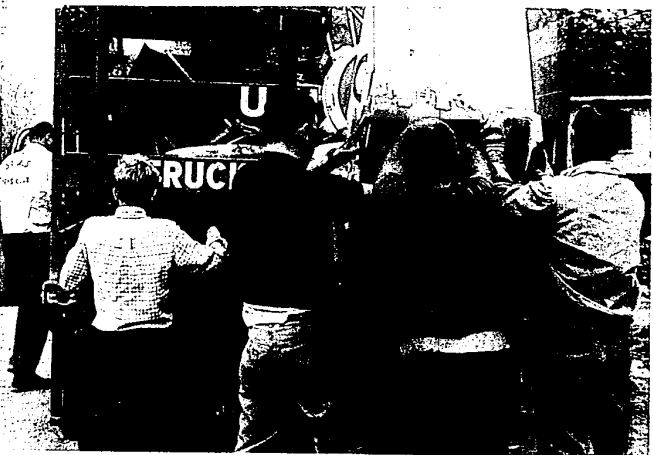

Bell had nothing but praise for Section 36 residents and cited that their efforts to clean up the area have not gone unnoticed. He said he hopes the rest of the township will adopt the way section residents have been "helping themselves and one another."

FCA's 1st On Center Calendar

FARMINGTON
Already the first group to have met in the Farmington Community Center, the Farmington Citizens Association (FCA) will also be the first group to meet in the center after its grand opening.

The FCA will meet at 8 p.m. Sept. 10.

Acting FCA president, Mrs. Harriet Rad comments, "We consider this to be very significant. The center adds a lot to the community -- the work volunteered there by so many public-spirited residents proves how such a facility can draw a community together. We look upon our association in the same way. It will serve the city and give each resident the opportunity to play a role in community affairs which was all too often absent in the past."

The FCA has been soliciting members among residents from all areas of the city since mid-July and is involved in City Council and City Planning Commission matters.

The group has adopted as its slogan "FIP -- grass-roots, improve, participate."
