PLAN TO MAKE A ROAD DRAG

Typical Design of Split-Log Oragthe rungs. These boards should be about 8 inches wide land their length should be slightly less than that of the runners of the drag.
The chain by means of which the drag is draws should be about 8 feet long led may should be imade of three-eighth-lich steet. On light drags two trace chains may be used for this purpose, so constructed an arrange without metal-cutting edges or other modifications, have been very satisfactorily used where the conditions were favorable. It is evident, however, that such drags are effective only on comparitively soft road surfaces, and to diminish this limitation and also to increase the life of the drag it is very destroble to provide a metal-cutting edge for the front runeer. An excellent edge of this kind may be made from a strip of fron o steel about one-fourth lack thick, and shout, four inches wide, and even of wagon tires or, wornout grader blace luve been very satisfactory.
