SCIENTIFICALLY FITTED REASONABLE COST

Your attention---the Want Column

Do Chickens Pay on the Average Farm?

It all depends on the farmer. If he looks on chickens as a nuisance, they don't pay. If he pays a little attention to them, they pay a big return for the effort.

There are two things to point to in making poultry raising a successful enterprise: earlier hatches and more fertile eggs.

How can a farmer get them?

First and foremost by having a substantial, air tight, warm, sunny, well ventilated Poultry House. And such a house quickly pays for itself with eggs bringing the prices they do now.

White Pine is the best wood for the outside of a poultry house because it stays where you put it without warping or shrinking or rotting. It's easy to work and easy on tools.

White Pine farm buildings are permanent. They last a lifetime, with practically no outlay for repairs.

Our service makes building easy and inexpensive. We have plans, specifications and bill of material for the Poultry house shown above—for any type you may prefer. We will gladly give you an estimate of the cost. Whatever your building plans, come in and talk them over with us.
