

Lift Off Corns!

Doesn't hurt! Lift touchy corns and calluses right off with fingers

Apply a few drops of "Freezone" upon that old, bothersome corn. Instantly that corn stops hurting. Then shortly you lift it right off, root and all, without pain or soreness.

Here corns, soft corns, corns between the toes, and the hard skin calluses on bottom of feet lift right off—no blisters!

Tiny bottles of "Freezone" cost but a few cents at drug stores

Stock Raising in WESTERN CANADA

Is as profitable as grain growing. Success is wonderful in those from growing wheat, oats, barley, and flax have been made in raising horses, cattle, sheep and hogs. Bright sunny climate, nutritious grasses, good water, convenient roads, easy access to the farmer and stock raiser. And remember, you can buy on easy terms

Farm Land at $15 to $30 An Acre

—Land equal to that which through many years has yielded from 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre—growing land convenient to good grain farms at proportionately low prices. These lands have very rural conveniences, good schools, churches, roads, telephone, etc., close to live towns and good markets.

If you want to get back to the farm, or to farm on a larger scale than is possible under your present conditions, investigate what Western Canada has to offer you.

For Circular literature, with maps and detailed regarding railroad rates, location of land, etc., apply to Department of Lands and Colonization.

COMMON ANCESTOR TO BLAME

Unwisely "Apple" is a Legacy Bequeathed to His Posterity by Old Father Adam.

We all "have it in" for Adam for shutting to our faces the gates of the Garden of Eden. But many of us, though we may not know it, bear the particular resemblance to this common ancestor that puts another chip on the shoulder. For it is generally conceded that an "Adam's apple" is no aid to beauty. And besides making of our Paradise a cold, bare world, it is Adam who inflicted upon us this additional burden. When our common progenitor took the fatal bite that forever doomed the rest of us to existence by the sweat of our brows, a piece of the fruit is supposed to have lodged in his throat and stuck there in his children's children unto the nth generation. And that is why the slight protuberance that some people have at the front of the throat is called "Adam's apple." Speaking of ancestry, some of us carry about on our persons unmistakable proof of our ancient lineage.—Chicago Journal.

FASHION ADVOCATES "SEPARATE SKIRTS"

THE arbiters of style continue to bring out beautiful separate skirts. Their story is changing all the time with new and interesting chapters—and always continued. The array of models includes wool, cotton and silk fabrics in many weights and weaves and a great variety of patterns, so that there are skirts for all kinds of wear. One for afternoon is shown above and is selected from others in the same class because it is very attractive and elegant and at the same time very practical.

SPRING BRINGS MARVELOUS HATS

THERE was never a spring more richly dowered with beautiful millinery than the present one. It comes with an unending variety of hats, in shapes and trimmings inspired by the art of many countries and centuries. Old Egypt and modern China are called upon for inspirations that take their place among those from other quarters of the globe and even the futuristic art contributes something. Milliners in this country are evidently studying design and the sources of style, with a growing appreciation of the oriental genius for using colors.

Among these models of ancient and distinguished lineage there are many simple and lovely creations with much shorter pedigrees, like the three typical models in the group above. Here a pretty tam of satin with narrow braid stitched in a lattice work over it, travels no farther back than a year or so and patterns its shape upon the "Blue Devil" tam that came to us from France. It is a saucy hat trimmed with two bobbing ornaments and is shown in several clever developments this spring.

A sailor shape of Batavia cloth is found in every representative display, along with a good many other shapes covered with Batavia. This particular sailor shape has distinguishing features—an indented top crown, a deep fold about the side crown and a brim covered by flowers embroidered with raffia braid in several colors. A dash of narrow ribbon is a daring trimming for a sailor shape, but it is used successfully on this model. Batavia is made in many beautiful colors and is a new feature in millinery.

A lovely wide brimmed model of georgette, with rows of chenille over the crown, is sure of success. The brim is edged with a soft fold of the crepe and trimmed with long streamers and a few odd ornaments that simulate flowers that are made of chenille. In any of the soft colors, that are at their best in georgette, a hat like this is a perfect bit of millinery art.

No matter what the summer may bring in the way of skirts, there will be nothing better than the plaited models in satin or silk, to be worn with lingerie waists. They are as safe as skirts of heavy white cottons for morning wear which replace the utility skirts of wool, for midsummer. In the picture above, the blouse, hat and shoes are worth a little study because they are all well chosen for wear with these skirts.

This skirt employs dark blue satin (with cross bars of white, in broken stripes) that is pressed into narrow side plaits before it is made up. The process of pressing holds the plaits always in place and makes easy a graceful adjustment to the figure. The then is put in before the material is plaited and the fullness at the waist line taken up with gathers. The plaiting must be done on a machine. A sash of the silk, finished with ends, and a single long tassel of silk, tied in a knot at the left side and proves the best possible management of the waist.

WHAT HE SHOULD HAVE SAID CITY PEOPLE "EASY MARKS"

Reporter Had Much to Learn About Proper Method of Referring to Different Speakers.

"I'm afraid you won't do for us," said the editor, controlling his temper with an effort, as he eyed the new reporter coldly.

"Why not, sir?" asked the reporter in surprise.

"Well, you said you had had considerable experience as a political reporter."

"So I have," retorted the scribe.

"Then you can earth dig you make use of a journalistic language in this?"

William addressed the meeting.

"Well, I think that?"

"Right," the editor's voice was torn with scorn. "It's all wrong. One would imagine that the meeting was in support of our candidate instead of the opposition."

"What difference does that make?"

"Why, Bink Blank next harangued the mob, of course."—London Answer.

"Mild Celebration," "Isn't that parlor socialist likely to become an out-and-out red?"

"I think not," answered Miss Cayenne. "He'll probably always stay just as he is, a sort of shrimp pink."

The class that is not out for business has no business to be out.—Marion Lawrence.

Many bestowed aims on beggar for whom lusty youth was engaged in "barking."

Since efficiency is finding its way into all business one of the oldest "professions" of all has begun to adopt modern methods. The innovation is due to a beggar who made his stand opposite one of the subway entrances about the Williamsburg bridge approach on Delancey street, the New York Evening Sun states.

Many who passed this spot recently were struck by the appearance of the beggar, an elderly, long-haired man, who had huddled up in a wheel chair. Alongside was a husky youth of nineteen or so, busily engaged in "barking" for the beggar. Secretly the latter must have thought it a good joke on the shag-giving public, for there was always a snarl on his face, as his friend shouted no more should neglect to drop a coin in the beggar's lap. His "spiel" was in Yiddish, which, roughly translated into English, would be:

"Stop! Give charity, people."

Many who ought to have known better stopped and gave.
