VOL. XXXIV No 25.

FARMINGTON, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 1920.

$1.50 A YEAR.

A PROCLAMATION

By the Governor.
ARBOR AND BIRD DAY.
May 7, 1920.

Following a custom established more than a half century ago, the time has again come to call attention to Arbor Day and its proper observance. Michigan's once splendid forests have largely disappeared, though we still have many thousands of acres of beautiful forest land. It would seem to be the part of wisdom to replant with trees vast areas which have grown little or nothing since the timber was taken off, but this project will require many years for its accomplishment. In the meantime, our cities and villages can add greatly to their attractiveness by planting shade trees along their streets and in their parks and squares. Young trees suitable for this purpose may be obtained at small cost from the Public Domain Commission at Lansing and the M. A. C. at East Lansing.

Trees, too, constitute the natural home of most of our birds and their preservation is a matter of the greatest moment.

Therefore, I, ALBERT E. SLEEPER, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby designate and set aside Friday, May, 7th, 1920, as Arbor and Bird Day; and I request that exercises appropriate to the day be held in all our schools, and that all teachers seek to impress their pupils with the importance of maintaining our shade trees and of protecting our song birds. I suggest further that the boys and girls in school be encouraged to study the characteristics and habits of Michigan birds.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this twentieth day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty, and of the Commonwealth the eighteenth.

Albert E. Sleeper, Governor.
By the Governor:
Coleman C. Vaughan,
Secretary of State.

School Notes

We play Wayne H. S. on their diamond Saturday and Dearborn Wednesday, at Dearborn.

Don't forget the Senior play this Friday evening. You will never regret seeing Henry Jenkins the Irishman, the Sunshine Chorus Girls, and last but not least, Sam, the colored boy.

Our High School has been placed on the University List, which means that our graduates can now enter the university or any of the colleges without taking the entrance examination.

That interesting topic in the High School "Who will lead the grand march at the Junior Reception" has been solved. They are Marguerite Moore and Russell Catherman, and Mildred Prindle and Lester Harger.

Last Friday Farmington High school basketball team played Oxford High and defeated them 25-20. Oxford scored 3 runs the second inning, but in the third inning Farmington ran up 19, 12 of the 19 being made after 2 men were out. Our boys played good baseball. Donald Banfield showed up well behind the plate.

Water Bonds Lost at Special Election Held April 26th.

The waterworks extensions which were put up to the people at a special election held last Monday lost out with a vote of 90 Yes and 166 Noes. Some surprise was shown for it was generally supposed that it would win. Farmington has long needed more water and it was thought that this opportunity would be taken to secure it. There was considerable electioneering done by both sides to judge by the auto-loads of voters which were driven to the voting booth.

Ladies Literary Club.

The Ladies Literary club met Wednesday afternoon with Flora Hendry.

Mrs. Jennie Melow gave an excellent geographical sketch of Ireland while Miss Katherine Sprague spoke in a most excellent way concerning its history and patriots.

The next meeting occurs in two weeks with Mrs. Ernestine Pierce.

M. A. C. MEN TEST SOIL

Tests to Determine Value of Sulphur on Alfalfa and Clover Planned This Spring.

Investigation to find the value of applying sulphur to Michigan soils is being carried out by Dr. M. M. Cook, of the soil department at the Michigan Agricultural College, who is working in conjunction with a number of farmers of the state who are particularly interested in the use of this necessary element for plant growth.

Tests already carried out in Cass and Van Buren counties, where sulphur has been added to the soil by Dr. McCool and G. M. Grant have shown results not to be of marked value in the case of several crops grown. Feeling that the question has not been solved in the humid regions, the Michigan soil workers are putting out several tests in different parts of the state this spring.

Dr. McCool advises that farmers apply acid phosphate (a ton of which carries about 120 pounds of sulphur) in liberal amounts on all but a small part of the field. Then to a strip of the remainder they should add sulphur at the rate of forty pounds to the acre. In this way a definite check can be obtained.

"Sulphur occurs in many of Michigan's soils in somewhat smaller amounts than phosphate," says Dr. McCool. "About eighteen pounds are washed out of an acre of soil annually. Some but not all of that removed from the soil is made good by rain and air that enter the soil mass, and it seems that sulphur should eventually become deficient in soils unless it is added in some form."

There are several carriers of this element of plant food that are used, namely, manure, ammonium sulphate, potassium sulphate, calcium sulphate or land phosphate, acid phosphate and pure sulphur. Pure sulphur and ammonium sulphate when used freely on soils deficient in lime, or without its application, markedly increase soil acidity and thus become injurious. Where lime is abundant or is applied this is of minor importance.

This has been investigated by several soil workers in this county, as well as in foreign countries, but the results from field tests are variable. Work in Oregon, Wisconsin, New Jersey, Kentucky and Ohio has shown yields of different crops to be increased somewhat by the application of sulphur.
