

FAUCETS TODAY DO MORE than simply control water flow. They add beauty to the bath or powder room, and enhance your favorite decorating schemes. The Bravura faucet, upper left, complements sophisticated, contemporary decors. The Alterna Onyx faucet, upper right, complements changing decors with colorful natural onyx inserts that snap into and out of the faucet handles. Centura faucets offer the convenience of single lever or push-pull control plus the dependability of a washerless cartridge for no-leak, no-drip service. "Antique" faucets enhance a variety of decors from Early American to eclectic. Faucets are from Kohler Co.'s 1978 Faucet Collection. For more ideas on how to decorate with faucets, send 25¢ for a colorful 26-page booklet to: Kohler Co., Box STM, Kohler, WI 53044.

How to Cope with the Coffee Crisis

Here are a few tips toward saving money on that expensive ingredient that is one of our beloved, great American taste-treats: coffee! That wake-up aromatic, steaming, flavorful cup of liquid gold is beginning to be as costly as gold. Swallowing the price along with the coffee might decide one to check out the following ideas:

Grind Your Own: The coffee bean is much less expensive than store-bought, ready-ground coffee and, in that form, will keep its flavor longer. An electric coffee grinder will pay off itself over several months of use. A good, long-term investment!

Stock Up On Sales: Buying quantity, while on sale, is another economic cents-saver. Vacuum-packed coffee will keep for months if not opened, and will keep longer if kept in the freezer, once opened. Roasted beans, purchased at sale price, can be stored in the freezer for months and won't require defrosting before grinding.

Grow Your Own: If you're long on patience and adore beautiful green plants, this can be a rewarding way to indulge your coffee habit while budgeting. Semi-grown coffee plants are available at plant stores and they're easy to grow.
