This was the week for the annual banquets which were held Tuesday and Wednesday nights at Roma Hall. Prizes are given out at these banquets. Jimmy almost got one for his team won for the International Minor League, but they lost in the play-off.

Joanne and Charles Owen, with another couple, had a golf weekend at Boyce Highlands in Harbor Springs, Mich. They drove up Friday, enjoyed beautiful weather and fine golf, but had to return Monday night.

THE FRANKLIN FORUM series for this coming season has been announced. David W. Shantz, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of psychology at Oakland University will open the series Oct. 21 with a talk on human behavior.

Bill and Sheila Holden flew to Berkeley, Calif., Aug. 22 to attend the convention of the Association for Education in Journalism.

Sheila got a big kick out of their being housed in men's dormitory on the campus. They found the convention very worthwhile but, for them it was a very nostalgic visit. Bill and Sheila actually met on Telegraph Hill in San Francisco, were married, and moved into an apartment with two blocks of the dormitory in which they were housed.

Of course they rented a car and drove down the coast to many of the places they had enjoyed in those early days. They still have friends and relatives in California whom they visited.

They also visited in Fremont the Dorsey Callahans whom they knew well when he was the music editor for the Free Press. They returned to Wood Creek last week.

FRANK JENSEN has been spending quite a bit of time in Denmark, his native country. He was over in May and again in August. He got back from this second trip last week. Frank's business is with infrared cooking devices. Almost two years ago he built one of the very first factories in our then brand new Industrial Park. Now he hopes to expand that business in Denmark.

KAREN ANHUT, daughter of John and Kathy Anhut, transferred this year from Marygrove College to the University of Michigan where she is in her junior year.

The Anhut's two boys, Jim almost 12 and in East Junior High, and Jerry 9, are both enthusiastic junior league ball players. Both belong to the North Farmington West Bloomfield Little League.

Seed Blends Practical For Lawns

A lot of interesting research on a favorite lawngrass, Kentucky bluegrass, has been done at Rutgers University. A study reported not long ago had to do with bluegrass' night life. The hotter the night life, the less energy bluegrass was able to reserve. Grasses reasonable! The investigation showed that food materials in the bluegrass plant decreased as nighttime temperature in the lawn rose from near freezing to about 70 degrees.

One reason it is so advantageous to sow bluegrass lawns in autumn is that the nights are increasingly crisp then, and the grass stores food which will stand it in good stead not only through winter but in next year's growing season as well.

Indict System For Social Ills

BLOOMFIELD HILLS This nation's free enterprise system was indicted for criminal neglect of the need for social reform, and identified as the "vital key to re-shaping this nation and this society" in a speech recently by Ken Mathewson, president of Metropolitan Fund, Inc., to the National Association of Accountants, Oakland County Chapter.

"Just as misuse of that system produced the problems at hand," Mathewson said, "so will proper use of the system make possible the better world that was, is and will continue to be the American dream."

Mathewson addressed the accounting group at its meeting at Devon Gables on the subject, "The financial executive's contribution to social reform."

The free enterprise system has fallen short, Mathewson said, in its inadequate consideration of people and of future in the system's historic decision-making process.

He described that decision-making process as "non-viable in its production of the intolerable pollution of our environment, the crisis in which our cities are floundering, the human miseries of poverty and discrimination."

Mathewson continued, "The system is a sound one...it is the best this world has yet discovered. It is capable of overcoming its own weaknesses and of making the necessary positive adjustments."

Defining the financial executive's contributions to social reform, Mathewson challenged the individuals present to acquire a heightened perspective of people and of future, to become a shaper of the future, rather than just a resident of it."

on the charter commission.

PERCE SAID he favors a yes vote Nov. 4 because township residents "have no alternative other than consolidation."

"Consolidation is better for all concerned," Pierce said. "In the event that a favorable vote for consolidation is not received, then the township is left in a worse position than it is now. In short, this means annexation."

"This is so because under the present trend of the law it would be more difficult for the township to incorporate."

"Piecemeal annexation that would follow any rejection of consolidation would mean an erosion of the township's tax base. Effective zoning and controlled growth would be virtually impossible because the township boundaries could never be considered permanent from one day to another."

"In addition, consolidation might result in more effective local government at less cost."

PERCE WAS president of Citizens Council for Community Development which, in 1967, sponsored the last township incorporation attempt. Pierce says his group never opposed consolidation.

Pierce added he urges residents to vote yes because "a favorable vote does not mean an irrevocable consolidation of the city, villages and township."

"The charter commission still must come up with a charter that is acceptable to the people," Pierce stressed. "In short, there can be no irrevocable consolidation until a charter is approved by a vote of the people."

Pierce said if elected he would "give expression to the various views of the people of Farmington Township, the city and villages. In doing so, I would attach great weight to the views of the members of the Citizens Council for Community Development."

"Further, I would expect that any proposed charter would adequately reflect the views and interests of the citizens of the township, city and villages."

PERCE IS married, has three children, and has lived in Farmington since 1961. He completed his undergraduate studies at Indiana Institute of Technology and Marquette College and received his law degree from West Virginia University.

Pierce is a partner in the law firm of Hamborsky & Pierce. Before entering private law practice, he was an assistant regional consultant for the Internal Revenue Service. In that capacity, he was in charge of all attorneys for the IRS Detroit office.

He is a member of the board of governors, Kendallwood Swimming Club, president of the North Farmington High Parents Association, and past president of Kenbrook School PTA.

Freedman Tells 1-City Position

Community cooperation ought to be extended to the area of local government, says Gerald Freedman who is one of 18 candidates seeking election to the charter commission Nov. 4.

"We have learned to live together and work together in the areas of education, recreation and library. Why can't we extend this cooperation to the area of local government?"

FREEDMAN urges voters to give consolidation a chance to see if a workable charter can be drafted.

"The alternative at this time would be a Balkanized, fragmentation of services and responsibilities to the detriment of the citizens of the Farmington Area," Freedman said.

Freedman, 37, of 30178 Murland, is married and has two children. He is a practicing attorney and resident of Farmington Township for nearly 10 years.

A member of the township's pension and salary committee, Freedman is the former chairman of the Farmington Democratic Club and was a nominee for township supervisor in the last election.

Freedman is vice president of the New Temple of Bloomfield Hills and a board member of the Anti-Defamation League.

OTHER ACTIVITIES include membership in Farmington Township Road Association; William Grace PTA; Little League; and organizer of the Forest Park Homeowners Association.

A graduate of Wayne State University, Freedman is a member of the state bar and an arbitrator for the American Arbitration Association. Freedman says he feels his experience as an attorney and involvement and knowledge of the political process will prove valuable in helping draft a charter for the proposed single city.

They'll add
BEAUTY, VALUE and STYLE to your home

When you come in, take a good look at our Du Pont Nylon Shutters. They're husky, sturdy, solid and handsome. Installed as recommended, they resist rot, dents, fading, chipping, cracking and mildew and are very unlikely to "sing" in the wind or blow off the wall.

DU PONT NYLON SHUTTERS

- Install in minutes, with no special tools needed.
- Require no painting, no puttying. Factory applied acrylic finish assures "low maintenance" long life.
- Stay in place. Exclusive spring steel rust-resistant fasteners hold shutters in a powerful grip, yet shutters can be easily removed and reinstalled.

"Most Wanted" sizes are available on "take with" basis. Other sizes are on a special order warehouse stock basis. Colors: Black and white. Green available on special order.
