Commission looks for new city logo

Area artists are invited to submit entries for a new city logo in a contest announced this week by the Farmington Area Arts Commission.

The contest is formulated in response to a request by Farmington Hills City Council in the search for an insignia which will embody the spirit of Farmington Hills.

Joyce O'Brien, speaking for the commission, said, "The logo should be a recognizable symbol which could represent community interaction, or positive growth, or recognition of the needs of all groups."

"It should be adaptable for varying uses such as stationary, or city vehicles."

The logo selected will be used to replace the seal that is presently in use.

Artists are eligible to submit one, or any number of entries, which will become the property of the City of Farmington Hills. Members of the arts commission and their families are ineligible.

ENTRIES ARE to be delivered to: Farmington Area Arts Commission, office of the City Manager, 31555 Eleven Mile, Farmington Hills, 48016, no later than June 9. The artist's name, address and phone number should appear on the back of the entry.

An initial screening by a committee of judges will select several entries for submission to the Farmington Hills Council, and the decision of the council will be final.

The sum of $150 will be awarded to the winner.
