Variety is the key in describing the eight popular non-subscription events to be offered by Meadow Brook Music Festival this summer. Tickets for each of these specials must be purchased on an individual basis.

The first event, scheduled for June 28, features Bobby Vinton, the teenage singing idol of the '60s who has become a family favorite in the '70s.

On July 18, Phoebe Snow and Gato Barbieri team up to interpret music in their own sensitive and rhythmic styles. Englishman Leo Sayer, best known for his recording of "You Make Me Feel Like Dancing," will demonstrate his singing and songwriting talents when he appears in concert July 28.

Returning favorites include the Preservation Hall Jazz Band, scheduled for Aug. 1, and the husband-and-wife duo of Kris Kristofferson and Rita Coolidge, who will perform Aug. 29.

THE FIRST weekend in September will feature three special non-subscription events. On Sept. 1, the spotlight will focus on an internationally acclaimed vocalist—Dionne Warwick.

On Sept. 2, the multi-talented Bobby Goldsboro will present a musical medley of his hits. Meadow Brook Music Festival's grand finale will be Pat Boone and his daughter Debbie, who's sure to sing her Academy Award-winning version of "You Light Up My Life."

All performances begin at 8:30 p.m. in the open-air Baldwin Pavilion on the Oakland University campus in Rochester. Tickets for these non-subscription events range from lawn to reserved pavilion seats.

Beginning June 9, tickets may be purchased in person at the Meadow Brook Box Office or at any Hudson's, Sears, Montgomery Wards or Grinnell's ticket services. For additional information, call the Festival Box Office at 377-2010.

Gato Barbieri appears with Phoebe Snow.

Phoebe Snow is heard July 18.

Bobby Vinton sings June 28.
