Presbyterians welcome Christopher Torrey

CHRISTOPHER TORREY

Christopher Torrey was named as the new assistant minister of First Presbyterian Church of Farmington in ceremonies conducted by representatives of the Presbytery of Detroit.

Torrey graduated from Andover-Newton Theological School, Mass. and was ordained to the gospel ministry in his home parish, the Needham Presbyterian Church, in Needham, Mass.

He was a 1974 graduate of the College of Wooster, Ohio, and attended the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Torrey's wife, Barbara, is a graduate of Southfield High School, and the College of Wooster, where she majored in theater.

Creative writing, creative drama, offered at center

The Farmington Community Center offers three classes this summer conducted by Mary Ann Hudnut: "Creative Writings," for teens and adults; "Drama for Teens and Adults," and "Science Fiction or Fact?"

Her students might find a little of the supernatural spilling over into any of these classes with topics such as aura, pyramid, telepathy, ESP and mind control.

Ms. Hudnut is the winner of many awards, but is most proud of those won by her students for compiling a literary arts magazine. She is a teacher of writing and drama at Redford Union High School.

Her interest in children stems from her own childhood experiences as which a Polish-speaking little girl in an English-speaking country.

Her study of English prompted her to become an avid reader and she aims to share her interest in reading with new techniques to stimulate her students' minds.

With an eye toward the more than 60,000 magazines published in this country, she says, "If young people would only read, and enjoy reading."

Her talents are many and varied, spanning dancing, writing, speech, drama, astrology, and an insatiable interest in science-fiction.

There are openings in some of her summer classes, most of which begin this week. Registrations are taken by calling the center, 477-8404.
