

A Southfield Life Support Unit paramedic sweeps up after a two-car collision Monday on Nine Mile and Lahser. One driver entered the intersection about 12:30 p.m. just as the light turned yellow, according to police. The driver of the other car made a left turn into the path of the first auto. The first driver failed to yield the right-of-way and the cars collided. There were no injuries. Staff photo by Gary Friedman).
