Players offer English farce

"See How They Run," an English farce that is still running in London to sold-out houses after five years, will be presented Feb. 9-10 and 16-17 by the Family Players. Performances will be given at 8 p.m. at the Groves High School Little Theater in Beverly Hills. Action of the play takes place in an English vicarage. For tickets, call 626-1693, 851-1597 or 682-5822.

Gala opens Stratford Festival

Opening night of the 1978 Stratford Festival will be a Gala Performance celebrating the international Year of the Child.

The evening combines the talents of artists of Les Grands Ballets Canadiens, under the direction of Brian Macdonald, members of the Festival Acting Company, and friends in a program based on the writings of Shakespeare.

There will be one performance only Monday, June 4, at the Festival Theatre in Stratford, Ont.

atre in Stratford, Ont.

This marks the second year the festival has devoted opening night to a single performance gala presentation drawn from Shakespeare's works.

In all the festival will open nine productions in the first week of performances, June 4-9.

Offered will be three festival stage productions: "Love's Labour's Lost" on Tuesday, June 5, "The First Part of Henry IV" on Wednesday, June 6, and "The Second Part of Henry IV" on Thursday, June 7.

On the Avon Stage: "Ned and Jack" will open in an afternoon performance on Tuesday, June 5; "Richard II" (with Nicholas Pennell in the title role) will open the afternoon of Wednesday, June 6; "The Importance of Being Earnest" the afternoon of Thursday, June 7; "Richard III" (with Frank Maraden in the title role) the afternoon of Friday, June 8; "Happy New Year" the afternoon of Saturday, June 9, and "Richard II" (with Stephen Russell in the title role) the evening of Saturday, June 9.
