

In The Pocket.

By W.W. EDGAR

The members of the American Junior Bowling Congress, now 850,000 strong, have set a goal that may shatter all records for fund raising in a single season.

The juniors hope to raise $1 million as their contribution toward the building of the National Bowling Museum and Hall of Fame during the week of March 18-24, which has been designated as national coaches week.

The young bowlers are taking time to say "thanks" to their instructors across the land and at the same time raise the money to meet the goal.

AT LAST IT HAS happened, John Hurley, who has posted more than a dozen 700 series in the morning league at Westland Bowl, finally faltered, and he can blame it on the gift from the American Bowling Congress.

When he appeared on the lanes this week, he was presented with an award for an 800 series by Doug Uhl, secretary of the Tri-City association. The excitement was too much for John.

When he took his turn on the approaches, he started with a 232. It seemed as though he was on the ball again. But he faltered and settled for a 171 and closed with another 232 for a 635 series.

BOB HITT came back to the winner's circle after a lapse of more than a decade when he set the pace the Westland Classic last Tuesday night. He didn't reach the 700 barrier, but he did string games of 193, 208 and 267 for a 668.

Don Selinako, who was ahead of Bob after two games with counts of 228 and 205, faltered in the final and dropped to 224 and lost out by seven pins.

There was a great race for top? honors among the teams and Lew Ansara's squad won out by six pins over Jerry Hill's Haymakers with a count of 3045.

VERONICA SLAVEN who carries a 131 average at Garden Lanes, had every reason to be proud this week. She took high game honors in the donut league with a 245. It was her best game of the season.

There also was a close race in the Vinco League where only five pins separated the top three bowlers. Rick Winter landed top honors with 628. Jerry Sostak had four pins back with 624 and Bob Malsenat landed third with 623. Meanwhile, in the St. Linus loop Bill Roe was high with 617.

CINDI EDWARDS repeated a place in the winner's circle in the Ladies Classic at Westland when she contributed a 610 that included games of 232 and 222. Mary Porter was right behind with a 591 and Carol Post had a 575.

Among the single game high totals, Jan Bayster had a 239 and Karen Mach a 235.

THERE WAS another close finish in the Ford LTD loop when Gene Maybry inserted games of 247 and 238 for 670 and a seven pin victory over Bob Kubec. Mary Ambrose had a 257 in 629 and Charlie Mitchell a 252 in 639.

In the Keglerettes circuit, Kathy Taulve, a 126 average bowler, fashioned a 204 in 465.

She yielded top honors to Lois Martens, a 133 average bowler, who had a 528.

BILLY G., who will be inducted in the ABC Hall of Fame in March, is having a great time at Super Bowl. He is spending each Wednesday afternoon instructing and has developed quite a class.

LUCY ARNOLD showed the way to the ladies at Mayflower Lanes when she improved in each game and posted counts of 181, 212 and 231 for 624. In the New Gems circuit, Vicki Lau had a 604. Two new members were inducted into the spill-conversion club when Edith Kelly knocked over the 6-7-10 and Ed Swingle did the same with the 6-7-9-10.

IN OTHER good performances, Pat White rolled a 269 in the junior house league at Super Bowl and Art Hilde, a 129 average bowler, went 158 pins over at Plymouth Bowl when he found the range for a 229 in 545 series at Plymouth Bowl.

THE LADIES have changed their mind, at least those in the Ladies Major League who voted to go to Ark Lanes West next year. At their meeting at Crown Lanes they rescinded that action and now plan to bowl next fall at Beech Lanes.

THE 700 BARRIER was broken in the Bel-Aire Classic for the first time in several weeks when Randy Ortwin put together games of 263, 238 and 208 for a 709. His nearest rival was Bill Mull with a 670.

CITY OF FARMINGTON HILLS PLANNING COMMISSION

PUBLIC HEARING

February 22, 1979

Farmington Hills City Hall
31555 Eleven Mile Road
Farmington Hills, Michigan 48018

The City of Farmington Hills Planning Commission will give formal consideration to a proposed amendment (Resolving Request 29-12-78), which would rezone part of the Southeast quarter of Section 30, City of Farmington Hills, County of Oakland, State of Michigan, being more particularly described as: T1N, R2E, Sec. 33, Farmington Acres Subdivision, Lot No. 74.

This property lies on the north side of Eight Mile Road between Farmington Road and Cies.

The above-mentioned request would rezone the above-mentioned property from its present RA-3, one family residential district classification to OS-2, planned office service district classification.

The proponent in this matter is Nada Ilich, who seeks this rezoning in order to use an existing building for office purposes.

Any person who is interested to participate in the discussion of the proposed rezoning change. Blueprints and maps and zoning tests may be observed at the Farmington Hills City Hall on any business day between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

North gymnasts whip area power

By MARTY BUDNER

Troy's girls' gymnastics team is in a state of transition.

During the past four winters Troy's gymnasts have been showcase models. Last year the Colts were Metro "B" League season champions, third at the regionals and seventh in the state.

However, the current squad is treading through some major changes.

First off, the Troy girls have abandoned their ancient home in the old part of the school for the new gymnasium. According to coach Sandy Smith, the girls like the change.

Secondly, Troy is performing as an independent team this year. The Colts were members of the now defunct Metro "B" League. Smith was forced to formulate her own schedule since the Oakland Athletic League (OAL)—which Troy High School's athletic program is affiliated with—does not recognize gymnastics.

Most importantly is a switch in personnel. Talented gymnasts like Lori Boes, Karen Marzolf and Mary McCatty are now history around Troy, and the new team consists primarily of five sophomores.

Another factor which will have a definite outcome in Troy's season is a change in philosophy by the renowned Birmingham-based Steve Whitlock Gymnastics School. Whitlock is allowing his gymnasts to perform double duty this year. Students are now able to perform with his school, plus their respective high school teams. That wasn't the case in the past.

In spite of all the changes, the tradition-minded Colt girls won five of six meets this year. The lone loss was by 2½ points last week to North Farmington, which Smith says has a good shot at this year's state title.

However, Troy is presently journeying into the rougher part of its schedule, with meets against improved Bloomfield Hills Lansing, powerful East Lansing and arch-rival Athens.

Smith, who purposely opted for a hard schedule, believes her team will benefit by the tougher competition.

"I could have set up a schedule with most of the weaker schools, and we could have gone 15-0," said Smith. "I tried to set up meets with every tough team that I could."

"I want the kids to have the experience against the tougher teams before we get into the regionals. We did very well. I thought, against North Farmington. They (the girls) saw some good gymnastics."

"I'm really very surprised with our team," she said. "Some of our sophomores have filled in the gaps. We're scoring like we did last year, and they've progressed well."

Last year's team weakness was the vault. However, Smith says the Colts are improved in that event, and they are more equal in all the events.

"This is a rebuilding year as far as getting the big tricks that we need," explained Smith. "We have to polish a lot of areas—like fancier moves on the (uneven) bars, backstands and aerials on the (balance) beam and twists on the floor."

There are normally 15 to 16 gymnasts on Smith's teams, but the number is slightly down this year. There are seven returning to a team of 11.

The list of studious sophomores begins with Lisa Boes and Michele Smith.

Boes' strongest event is the floor exercises. She was seventh in the state last year, and she has already qualified for post-season competition in every event this year.

"Her tumbling is strong, and she has a very nice floor show," said Smith. "This year her vault, bars and beam are up to par for her."

In her second year on the team, Smith is perhaps the team's strongest vaulter. She came in as a freshman with no previous gymnastic experience, and she is one of the team's strongest performers.

Lora O'hanian and Michelle Segal are another pair of potentially powerful gymnasts. O'hanian's best events are the beam and floor, while Segal prefers the bars.

Tankers win

By TOM BAER

Todd Avery's swimming records don't last long at Southfield High. That's because Avery himself keeps breaking them.

Avery, a senior, established a variety record of 2:09.0 in the 200-yard individual medley last Thursday to help his team beat Royal Oak Kimball, 90-82, in a Southeastern Michigan Association meet. Avery broke his own standard of 2:09.7 set a week earlier against Ferndale.

Against Kimball, Avery won another individual event, the 100-yard backstroke in :58.7, and swam on the 200-yard medley relay (with Ken Lynchee, Mark Albrant and Bob Shrossbree), which won with a time of 1:47.5.

Bob Shrossbree also won two individual events for Southfield. He topped the 100-yard freestyle (:54.1) and the 50-yard freestyle (:23.8). Ken Lynchee of Southfield won the 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 1:09.2.

The victory was Southfield's first over Kimball since 1965, according to coach Bob Harding. The Blue Jays are 6-2 overall and 2-0 in the SMA.
