Bobcat lair could be your driveway

Mercury subcompact given facelift and has tail bobbed

The biggest changes in this year's Mercury The olggest changes in this year's Mercury Bobcat are cosmetic alterations in the front and rear ends. The front end now has a sloping, vertical grille and single rectangular headlights, a more sloping hood and new bumper work.

The rear end has horizontal taillights on the 1979 three-door subcompact model, although the station wagon keeps its vertical configu-ration. Both models have new bumpers like the front end

Inside, the instrument cluster is brand new and rectangular shaped. It includes a miles/ kilometers-per-hour speedometer.

The Bobcat will offer five new exterior colors and two new interior schemes. The bucket seats come in either cloth and vinyl or all vinyl material.

The options available on the Bobcat for the first time are an AM/FM stereo radio and Mechanically, Mercury developed a votage regulator without moving parts that can wear out. The standard powertrain for the Bobcat is a 2.3 liter four cylinder engine with a four speed manual transmission. An automatic transmission is an option, as is a 2.8 liter (V-6) engine.

The body is unitized and the car has rack-and-pinion steering. It has disc brakes in the front and drums in the rear.

The three-door model has an overal length of just under 169 inches and a wheelbase of  $94\frac{1}{2}$  inches. It is 55 inches wide and  $50\frac{1}{2}$  inches high.

Taxpayers may be able to claim as tax deductions expenses incurred when using their automobile for business, moving, charitable and medical pur-poses, the Internal Revenue Service advises.

Those who keep record of actual costs may claim operating expenses and fixed expenses, such as depreciation and insurance, for business use of their automobile. But for deductible non-business uses, only operating expenses may be claimed.

Instead of claiming actual expenses, taxpayers may use an optional mileage allowance method. Taxpayers can deduct 17 cents per mile for the first 15,000 miles and 10 cents per mile for each additional mile when their automobile is used for business purposes. For more details concerning business expenses, the free IRS Publication 453, "Travel Entertainment and Gift Expenses," is available from the IRS by using the mail order form in the tax package.
