Remember ethyl? Well, meet gasohol. The new fuel — consisting usually of about 90 percent gasoline and 10 percent grain alcohol — is a sign of the energy-starved times. This station is on the outskirts of Grand Rapids. (Photo by Micky Jones)

Revel, revel

In early October, some 300,000 people are expected to attend the fourth annual Red River Revel, a celebration of the arts in Shreveport, La.

Some 55 musical performances, a like number of dancers and other performing artists, plus outstanding chefs demonstrating how to prepare Moussaka of Poule au Pot; nationally known photographers; artisans fashioning metal or glass into sculpture; Olympic gymnasts creating poetry in motion; dramatists at work on stage, plus poets, painters, potters and sculptors will be included.

The merriment runs Sept. 30 through Oct. 6.

For information write Red River Revel, 700 Clyde Paul Parkway, Shreveport, La., 71101, or call 1-318-221-1776.

New guide explores doings around and about Lake St. Clair

In the guides-to-places department comes word of "A Pirate's Guide to Lake St. Clair," published this month by Mako Publishing Co. of Grosse Pointe Farms.

The 160-page book was written by Bill Bradley of Lake St. Clair and includes descriptions and photographs of facilities and activities for travelers who are either on the lake or its shoreline.

Information includes harbors, marinas, boating clubs, rental companies and schools, charters, cruiser races and regattas, all designed for people who like to go out on the lake under sail or power.

There are sections on restaurants, swimming and fishing holes, festivals and indigenous recipes for landlubbers; past and present weather information; marine organizations; nautical publications; scuba diving resorts and schools; cities and towns along the shoreline; and various other lake-related information.

Eighty original pen-and-ink drawings accompany the text, along with low-level aerial views of every harbor entrance on the lake.

The book is available at J.L. Hudson's, marine supply outlets and gift shops, or can be ordered from Mako Publishing Co., P.O. Box 36443, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236. The price is $5.95.

Jazz festival opens Labor Day

The Detroit Jazz Center, 2100 Park Avenue in Detroit, will celebrate its grand opening Labor Day weekend with a four-day jazz festival featuring Detroit jazz artists in a variety of settings.

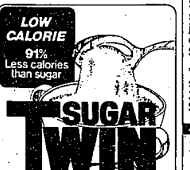

Featured artists include the Lyman Woodard All-Stars, Marcus Belgrave and the New Detroit Jazz Ensemble, Sam Sanders and The Pioneer Jazz Orchestra, David Swain and the II-V-I Orchestra, and some solo artists and small ensembles. The music will be presented in several formats, including The Detroit Jazz Center Ball in the Park Avenue Club ballroom, a jam session and big band workshop at the Club On Brno, (74 W. Columbia), open-air concerts, patio and pool parties, and other unique festivities.

For more information call the Detroit Jazz Center at 982-4124.
