

Working has many phases, faces

Stan Wisak zeroes in with precision to lay pipe for badly needed drainage in the area. (Staff photos by Randy Borst)

Delivering the mail in any weather has become part of the American tradition. Here Jeff Lindan performs his duty. (Staff photo)

Pumping gas has become one of the more well-known ways of making a living, as is demonstrated by Dave Woglins. (Staff photo)

One of the more daring and dramatic labors is reserved for those who climb in quest of satisfaction. Marvin Finkel is one such person. (Staff photo)
