

A Potpourri of stuffed toys

Rosemarie Menzel brings a menagerie of stuffed toys, all original designs and handmade, to the Farmington Community Center's juried Arts and Crafts Show and Sale.

She has been exhibiting at shows for four years, but Saturday, Oct 20 will be her first visit to the center. (Staff photo by Randy Borst)

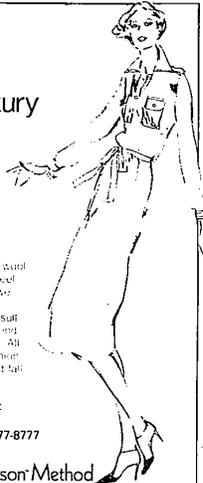

New Sources schedules open house Oct. 25

A second open house to introduce women to New Sources, is set for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 25, in Farmington Hills Community Library on 12 Mile Road. The purpose of New Sources, a network of women helping women, is to offer women the chance to focus on their dreams and make them become realities. "Overall, it builds self-confidence, knowledge and contacts," said Shirley Aune, who with Joyce Sachs, is founder and director of the program. There is no charge for the open house presentation. The network is a continuing support system of women who help each other to achieve their chosen goal by offering ideas, encouragement, resources and keeping each other motivated and focused. To become part of the network, each woman participates in an intensive two-day seminar designed to help women focus their career and personal goals. Participants are taught specific skills, such as time management, overcoming obstacles and goal setting. "Each woman leaves the seminar with a strategy of how to achieve her goal, using the network," said Ms. Sachs. Both of the directors have master's degrees in guidance and counseling. Both are trained and experienced in group counseling with women, through Oakland University's Continuum Center. New Sources' telephone number is 851-3150.

New Poly/Wool: Now the luxury of wool is as easy to care for as polyester.

We've combined the best of wool's durability, its luxurious feel, its superb goat looms. And we added the wash and wear qualities of polyester. The result is a dream of a wool-cloth blend in colors that delight the eye. All coordinated to our other fashion fabrics to ensure that a perfect fall wardrobe.

Leave your fireplace damper open in the summer. It is a heat-escape vent and you'll lose no cooled air upwards. But be sure the damper is never left open in cold weather.
