League Sets Open House

The Michigan League for the Handicapped will hold open house in its workshop in the school building at Ann Arbor Trail and Newburgh from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 20.

William Ebert, director, said visitors would have opportunity to see projects underway in the shop for work contracts and the craft activities class. Work contracts, which keep from four to 13 handicapped and retarded persons busy, include glove patching for U.S.

Industrial Glove Co., envelope stuffing for General Motors and sorting washers and putting them on studs for another firm.

Mrs. Gertrude McCulloch, who comes from an inner city Detroit school that was closed, is in charge of the workshop. Mrs. Julia Harvey directs work in the activities room, where about 20 handicapped do the various projects. All interested in the work of the league are invited to attend the open house.

PATCHING PROJECT — One of the workers in the Michigan League for the Handicapped contract shop demonstrates the glove patching the shop is doing for U.S. Industrial Glove Co. An open house Nov. 20 will give visitors the opportunity to see League work in action.
